1,000 DIE AS CYCLONE RIPS EAST PAKISTAN

DECCA, East Pakistan (UPI)—A cyclone and tidal wave that lashed the East Pakistan port town of Chittagong and the surrounding coastal area Monday took at least 1,000 lives, an eye-witness said today.

An estimated 6,000 persons died after a twister and tidal wave ripped the area Oct. 10.

Savage Storm Lashes Britain

LONDON (CP)—Fierce gales howled across the British Isles today, leaving a trail of torn roofs and toppled trees over areas already hit by floods.

Ships scurried for shelter from mountainous waves. One ship, the 6,859-ton Wellpark, was forced aground near Liverpool and lifeboats were sent to two other vessels in distress.

Waves 40 feet high crashed over some roads around the coast. In southern England, highways already badly flooded were further blocked by falling trees.

At Belfast, 24 girls ran screaming from the top floor of a five-story warehouse when the roof was plucked off in the wind. No one was injured.

TRAVEL HAMPERED

Ship sailings were delayed in ports all around the country. Air and rail traffic was also disrupted.

The gales brought fresh threats of flooding to wide spread areas of Britain which were only beginning to dig themselves out of mud and debris.

The worst storm in memory struck the northwest coast resort of Blackpool. Roofs were blown off, windows shattered and the town's telephone system cut off.

Off the east coast, herring fleets caught in 80-mile winds, struggled through mountainous waves to harbor after an all-night battering.

In Manchester, gales blew in big department store windows and knocked down billboards. The Thames River continued to rise. Workers frantically placed sandbags along the Thames banks at Windsor to protect the main street from flooding.

Hundreds of acres of the royal park outside Windsor Castle were flooded.

Mauled to Death

NAIROBI (Reuters)—Mrs. Diana Hartley, 43, a veteran wild animal handler, was mauled to death Tuesday night by a "tame" lion on a game reserve near Arusha, in northern Tanganyika.

IKE IN THE FRAY

Bitter Charges By Candidates

By United Press International
President Eisenhower today starred in a razzle-dazzle Republican campaign spectacular designed to swing New York—and the nation—behind GOP White House nominee Richard M. Nixon.

Democratic candidate John F. Kennedy stumped through Los Angeles, San Diego, San Jose and San Francisco in his second and final day of campaigning for the 32 electoral votes of Nixon's native California.

The presidential rivals traded increasingly blunt charges. Nixon branded the Massachusetts senator a "bare-faced" liar on social security. Kennedy termed a "detestable" a GOP statement on defence contracts.

In a whirlwind 12-hour bid for New York's 45 electoral votes—biggest single bloc in the nation—Eisenhower appeared side-by-side with Nixon at several rallies in suburbs of New York City and a ticker-tape parade up Broadway. A nationally televised evening rally was set in Manhattan.

Kennedy continued to tease Nixon about the use of Eisenhower in the campaign.

Former President Harry S. Truman, campaigning for Kennedy in New York suburbs, also needed Nixon.

"The Republicans have now sent out an emergency call for help," Truman said. "They are asking me to try to rescue Nixon."

Kennedy accused the Eisenhower administration of releasing an additional $155 million for development of the B70 super-bomber "to increase Republican votes."

In a statement issued in Los Angeles, Kennedy said the administration's decision a week before election day to release the funds made available some time ago by the Democratic Congress was a "transparent political manoeuvre" rather than an effort to increase national defenses.

Nixon charged that Kennedy proposals added up to "one of the cruelest and most vicious 'soak the poor' programs ever advocated by any presidential candidate."

"It is the millions of people in the lower income brackets—not the wealthy—who would really pay the bill for my opponent's platform if he tried to finance it by new taxes," Nixon said in a speech prepared for a Republican breakfast meeting in Brooklyn.

This was a continuation of the vice-president's emphasis on the "pocket book issue" in speeches Tuesday in Pennsylvania and upstate New York.

He said that if Kennedy were elected, the public could look for higher taxes and prices.

TICKER TAPE WELCOME FOR NIXON, IKE

NEW YORK (AP)—Streamers flew from windows, confetti was tossed on the crowd and tug whistles blatted in Manhattan today as President Eisenhower joined the campaign of Vice-President Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Spectators, packed behind police lines, cheered and some women blew kisses at the president and Nixon arrived at Herald Square, sitting on the back of a convertible. At one point the confetti and tape were so thick it looked as though twilight had arrived, early.

Eisenhower, Nixon and Lodge arrived in Manhattan by helicopter after appearances in the suburbs.

At a shopping centre in Nassau County on Long Island, Eisenhower said Nixon and Lodge, the Republican presidential and vice-presidential nominees respectively, offer the U.S. "the finest type of leadership that is available today to the nation."

CHEST DRIVE TO FALL SHORT BY $80,000

Pessimistic officials of the Community Chest today predicted that the 1960 Red Feather drive may fall short of its $350,000 goal by $80,000.

A special meeting of canvassers and key workers was called this afternoon and it was expected an extension of the campaign would be sanctioned. With the deadline for returns set for Friday only $176,000 has been collected.

"I am extremely disappointed with the progress so far," campaign chairman Bernard Van Aggelen stated.

"If people want to have a Community Chest then it is absolutely essential that they contribute towards it on a fair share basis."

POOLS WINNER DISQUALIFIED

Too Young for Fortune

LONDON (AP)—An 18-year-old German girl who came to England 12 weeks ago had £45,856 ($128,396) slip from her fingers. Diepold Ute, who works as a maid, thought she had won the money betting in a soccer pool. An official of the pools firm called on her to hand her the cheque.

But when he found she was 17, he had ever filled in a coupon, and it came out right. And now this.

'It's No Good' Reporters Told

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The Soviet Union threw cold water today on Canadian efforts to produce a compromise decision on disarmament in the UN General Assembly.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin said of a Canadian resolution for this purpose, "It's no good." He told reporters the resolution created the illusion that there was a basis for agreement when there actually was none.

But he said his delegation did not yet have the Soviet government's reaction to a tentative resolution that India and others have drafted to bring about a compromise.

An authoritative source said the U.S. delegation did not have Washington's reaction to the Indian draft, either. The document was given to both delegations Sunday.

Delegates said India's document, prepared in collaboration with five or six other nations, laid down directives to be followed in drawing up a treaty for general and complete disarmament.

RIVAL RESOLUTIONS

A pending Soviet resolution sets forth the same objective. A rival American-British-Italian resolution on disarmament seeks only "measures leading toward the goal of general and complete disarmament," without mentioning any treaty.

The Canadian resolution was outlined by External Affairs Minister Howard Green Tuesday. Norway and Sweden are co-sponsors.

Instead of laying down directives for the disarmament negotiators, the resolution asks the 59-nation UN disarmament committee to set up a special committee of perhaps 10 or 12 non-nuclear countries to help get negotiations going again.

The last disarmament talks ended last June 27 when five Communist countries walked out on a 10-nation committee meeting in Geneva.

Anti-Catholic Tracts Flood New York State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Residents in all corners of New York State are receiving anti-Catholic literature.

The literature has been denounced by Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic leaders. Pamphlets and handbills were being received by residents in Albany, Utica, Plattsburgh, Saranac Lake, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Middletown and Buffalo.

Some of the literature came from anonymous senders. The titles include: If the United States becomes 51 per cent Catholic, and Washington isn't the 'sway of Romanism.'

Senator John Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, repeatedly has gone on record for church-state separation. Kennedy is a Roman Catholic.

UN TROOPS DISPERSE CONGO MOB

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—Ghanaian United Nations troops today were called on to help disperse a demonstration by hundreds of striking Congolese transport workers.

No one was hurt in the demonstration but several windows in the transport company's headquarters were broken.

The strike was touched off by a demand for pay increases.

U.K. Seeks To Quell SubDispute

LONDON (CP)—Britain today sought to avert an Anglo-American argument over the control of missiles carried by American Polaris submarines to be based at Holy Loch, Scotland.

Prime Minister Macmillan announced in the House of Commons Tuesday that the United States would not use the missiles without "the fullest possible previous consultation."

Surprised U.S. officials said in Washington the United States had made no direct commitment about fullest previous consultation with Britain.

The Earl of Home, Britain's foreign minister, told the House of Lords today it appeared from press reports that Macmillan's words had been misinterpreted.

In reply to questions, Home declared: "It is quite clear from the prime minister's statement that although he is sure there would be consultation wherever possible, it could not necessarily be guaranteed in the case of an emergency."

SAYS TEXT CLEAR

The foreign secretary expressed confidence that if there is any misunderstanding in Washington, it will be cleared up by a full reading of the text of Macmillan's statement.

He said Macmillan had pointed out it was not possible to make a Polaris agreement to match the one on U.S. air bases in Britain. The air base agreement calls for full consultation between the two governments before the use of nuclear weapons.

Meantime, 32 Labor MPs announced their opposition to the Polaris agreement. They submitted a motion, warning against the "grave dangers" of such a base over which the British government could have no adequate control. (See page 3.)

PRAYER FOR TODAY

We lift up the work of our hands unto Thee, Father, that this work might be blessed of Thee and be a blessing to Thy people everywhere. Help us to know the joy of serving Thee and our brothers. Help us to see that all we do is a sacrament of love performed in Thy name and for Thy glory. Free us from useless care and meaningless labor. Fill our hearts with love for work that is a service to Thee. In the Master's name we ask it. Amen.

VANCOUVER—A coin-operated pub?

Possible says Walter Gibb, manager of a company which has obtained manufacturing rights to a machine that will take the human element out of drawing beer.

He said at the annual meeting of the B.C. Hotel Association here:

"This machine will pour exactly 9½ ounces into a 20-cent glass every time and settle the beer and keep it at the right temperature and pressure as well. All you do is trip the switch."

He said the dispenser is the answer to charges made at last week's annual convention of the B.C. Federation of Labor CLC that beer parlor operators deny customers full measure.

William Wainwright, president of the Hotels Association Vancouver branch, did not like the vision of the machine replacing bartenders and waiters.

"I don't want hotels to become assembly-line factories where hospitality is replaced by production quotas."

Injured Boy Crawls Painfully to Curb

Eleven-year-old North Ward School pupil, Larry Shaw, is in good condition with head injuries following collision with a car at an intersection just vacated by a school safety patrol at 3:14 p.m. Tuesday.

The boy, who lives at 568 Bay, said he crawled to the edge of the sidewalk at Douglas and Kings after the impact as he would not delay traffic.

He was on his way home from school at the time.

Two others are in hospital with head injuries after the cars they were driving were in collision at West Saanich and Pipe Line Road at 4 p.m.

Edwin James, 18, of Duncan, is "satisfactory" at Jubilee Hospital, and Mrs. Ethel Allan Vincent, 4786 Spring, is DUBLIN, N.H.—The old Farmer's Almanac appeared Tuesday in its 169th edition predicting that 1961 will be "on the whole, a good year for almost any enterprise." More than 1,000,000 copies have been issued.

MELBOURNE—An 80-year-old Melbourne junk collector, Huntly Gordon Elliott, won £120,000 Tuesday in Australia's Melbourne Cup sweepstakes with a ticket he forgot he had bought.

TORONTO—Donald McHaney, 17-year-old schoolboy, Tuesday was fined $30 or 10 days in jail for placing a stench bomb in a restaurant which police said had to be closed for two days.

The youth, described as a brilliant grade-12 student at central technical school, had been ordered to stay away from the restaurant.

TORONTO—Irish play-right Brendan Behan arrived in Toronto Tuesday for a television appearance and had a word of praise for the Canadian immigration service.

"I went to the U.S. immigration and they gave me a pile of forms," he told a reporter. "I went to the Canadian place and they asked me if I had a union card. They warned me there wouldn't be much work as a house painter if I didn't have one. Was I coming over at my expense? No, at yours."

"I didn't fit any of the three categories, but they gave me a visa anyway."

Behan appeared Tuesday night on the CBC's Front Page Challenge.

BEER-LOVING BRITONS LAP UP SPEECH

LONDON (CP)—The speech from the throne opening a new session of Parliament Tuesday promised Britons more beer-drinking time.

The speech said the government plans "to reform licensing laws."

To Britons accustomed to being herded out of their pubs long before midnight, this promise constituted the program's best news.

Home Secretary R. R. Butler now intends to increase the drinking hours and bring uniformity into the regulations.

Police Catch Fleeing Joy-Riders

One of four young people including two teen-aged girls pursued late Monday by a motorcycle policeman for two blocks before they jumped out of a school teacher's car and ran, pleaded guilty in city police court Tuesday to car theft.

David Yardley, 19, no fixed address, was remanded to Monday for a probation and sentence. The others were to be dealt with by juvenile authorities.

A car owned by Donald Berringer, 785 Cowper, was stolen from Victoria High School and spotted in the Gorge area by motorcycle Const. A. V. Harwood, who gave chase.

When four youngsters, including a boy and girl aged 17, and another girl aged 14, jumped from the car and ran, police reinforcements cornered two behind Windsor Motor Court, 260 Gorge.

Storm Brewing Over Sub Base

LONDON (AP)—The British government launched a public relations campaign today in an effort to avert an outcry against the basing of U.S. nuclear missile submarines in Scotland.

As protests were raised, the government invited leading officials to 12 towns and counties in the Clyde area to a meeting at Greenock Thursday to discuss the base agreement.

Prime Minister Macmillan told the House of Commons Tuesday that Holy Loch, the Clyde yachting centre 30 miles from Glasgow, next February would become a base for servicing submarines that can fire the 1,200 to 1,500-mile range Polaris missile from under water.

Moscow Radio warned Tuesday night that the Polaris base would be the target for an inevitable retaliatory blow if used for aggression.

Labor MPs at once attacked the arrangement, saying the people of Scotland would resent exposure to destruction.

John Johnston, secretary of the Glasgow Trades Council and the city's treasurer, said "we might even have an Aldermaston-type march."

There is very grave concern about the Polaris base. Large numbers of pacifists stage an annual anti-nuclear march to the British nuclear weapons research centre at Aldermaston.

Dr. Andrew Hood, former mayor of Glasgow, said several organizations were getting up petitions and that he expected expressions of feeling against the base from all over the west of Scotland in the next two weeks.

Labor MPs were reported to have drafted a motion objecting to the Polaris base, demanding removal of U.S. bases from Britain and criticizing Britain's defence expenditures as being too high.

The Daily Mail said "few will wish to salute the happy morn" when the first U.S. depot ship arrives in February.

Cuba, Russ Rebuffed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations General Assembly rode down Cuban-Soviet demands Tuesday night for urgent assembly debate on their charges that the United States is planning an invasion of Cuba.

The assembly, after two days of debate, rejected a Cuban amendment to upset a previous steering committee decision assigning the debate to the assembly's 99-nation political committee.

The vote was 29 in favor of the Cuban-Soviet stand, 45 against, 18 abstentions.

The United States branded the Cuban-Soviet charges "false" . . . monstrous distortions and downright falsehoods," but said it welcomed the chance to disprove them in a far-ranging debate.

STOP KENNEDY HOFFA'S CRY TO TEAMSTERS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Teamster president James R. Hoffa has again urged his union to vote against Sen. John F. Kennedy. Both Hoffa and the union has refrained from endorsing the candidacy of Richard M. Nixon.

Hoffa's most recent appeal for Kennedy's defeat appears in an editorial in the November issue of the Teamster magazine.

He wrote that Kennedy, and his brother Robert, are making a "fantastic career" out of fighting him and the Teamsters. Robert Kennedy clashed with Hoffa when he was counsel of the Senate rackets committee.

Hoffa wrote that "to have a man like this in the White House, with his little brother by his side, is to invite a police state upon ourselves and our children."

IN WESTERN EUROPE

Trade Foothold Our Major Goal

MONTREAL (CP)—Keeping a firm foothold in the markets of Western Europe is one of Canada's major trade goals for the next few years. James A. Roberts, deputy minister of trade and commerce, said Tuesday night on his return from a three-week overseas trip as head of a 15-man Canadian trade mission.

Mr. Roberts described the mission, which included top executives of various Canadian companies, as "probably the most important which has ever gone abroad from this country in the interests of foreign trade."

He said the six-country European common market is not only an established fact but also "a great and expanding success" from the viewpoints of the six participating nations, West Germany, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

STRONGER CONTACTS

Mr. Roberts said one definite result of the mission has been stronger individual contacts between the Canadian business community and leading industrialists and traders of Western Europe.

The common-market countries were moving closer to full economic unity. On Jan. 1, 1961, a joint system of external tariffs would come into operation.

Magistrate Scott held that the "legal suspension" of Jones' licence had not been proven.

Jones' suspension was signed by the deputy superintendent of motor vehicles, Raymond A. Hadfield.

Stewart McMorran, city prosecutor, said Tuesday he had been instructed by the attorney-general's department to proceed with an appeal.

CANADA HITS U.S. STAND ON AGRICULTURE

GENEVA (Reuters)—The U.S. came under fire here Tuesday for maintaining stiff protection for its agriculture.

Seven agricultural countries, including Canada, criticized U.S. import restrictions at a closed session of the contracting parties to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade who began a three-week conference.

U.S. delegate Charles Adair presented a report on import restrictions maintained by the U.S. during the last year.

Adair said his government found it necessary to continue restrictions on the import of wheat and wheat products, cotton and cotton waste, rye and rye flour, flaxseed including linseed oil, peanuts and peanut oil, tung nuts and tung oil, and dairy products.

Delegates from Canada, New Zealand, Australia, Rhodesia, Denmark, The Netherlands and Uruguay then voiced disappointment over the report.

Socreds Ponder Auto Insurance

Eighty-five Victoria Social Crediters will head for Vancouver this week with at least one controversial proposal for the annual convention of the B.C. Social Credit League.

More than 400 delegates are expected at the Friday-Saturday meeting from across the province, says president Noel Murphy.

There are 25 voting delegates allowed from each provincial electoral riding—there are 52 ridings.

A number of non-voting Victoria delegates will be included in the local contingent.

The Victoria group is filing three resolutions.

The one which will promote some controversy calls for study of automobile insurance, and the possibility of setting up a government insurance agency.

This is traditionally a CCF idea. Such an agency is operating in Saskatchewan.

Other Victoria resolutions are for setting up some sort of youth organization and for lowering the "adult" driver classification of insurance companies from 25.

Premier Bennett and all cabinet ministers are expected to attend opening sessions of the convention Friday morning at the Garden Auditorium on the PNE grounds.

Towards a Start

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS MINIS-ter Green has followed up his first disarmament proposal to the United Nations Assembly with a formal resolution embodying his original plan.

It is a sensible proposal. Mr. Green urges that the UN form a committee of United Nations members who are not nuclear powers which would act, with the advice of experts, to "assist the resumption of serious negotiations and facilitate the attainment of the goal of general and complete disarmament."

This is an essential part of the Green plan. It is coupled with another suggestion to form a committee of experts who would negotiate in a parallel manner with the 10-nation disarmament committee which dissolved in failure last summer.

He urges, too, that the 10-nation body have a neutral chairman who would keep it from deviating from its proper goal.

The 10-nation committee was sponsored by the United Nations, but it was not an integral part of the UN. It was, in a sense, a "private" group composed of five countries each from East and West. Canada, by virtue of its progress in nuclear knowledge, was included.

Mr. Green's plan puts the UN directly back in the picture, which meets in part Mr. Khrushchev's demand for General Assembly discussion of the whole question. But since debate in such a large gathering could easily be lost in platform propaganda of the great powers, Mr. Green seeks to limit the number to the non-nuclear nations—a mobilization of the middle and smaller countries to enforce their demand on the big powers that an answer to the disarmament problem be found quickly.

The question that comes with increasing frequency from the little people of the world is: Do the great powers want disarmament quickly?

As one authority puts it, there have been more words exchanged on the subject of disarmament during the past decade than on virtually all the other East-West issues combined. The result so far is stalemate. Is this the likely outcome of ten years of debate by some of the ablest brains in the world? If both sides desperately desired disarmament would they not have attained it by now—particularly when the danger of not attaining it could be mutual annihilation?

There is not even agreement on first steps; there is almost no progress in forming a basis for disarmament. The East, through Mr. Khrushchev, insists on complete, general disarmament, including abandonment of overseas bases, to be followed by negotiations on controls. The West calls for step-by-step disarmament, each step to be accompanied by inspection and controls.

Surely sincerity could not result in stalemate on such a basis. Union-management negotiations have solved far greater discrepancies of opinion.

Of course, the stakes are high. No negotiator can afford to fumble, since national survival is involved. The powers distrust and fear each other even more than the bomb. But more than national survival is involved—human survival is involved.

With this in mind, Mr. Green seeks to win the agreement of all the middle and small powers to unite in a demand on the nuclear nations. They cannot force action, except through the nebulous—even though powerful—pressure of public opinion. But they can speak for the people of the world—including the people who live in the nuclear nations—and that, in the end, may prove to be the only effective means of persuasion.

RCAF and Forest Fires

THE PACIFIC LOGGING CON-gress has called on the federal Government to establish a national fire-fighting task force to protect Canada's timberlands in co-operation with provincial governments and industry.

On the face of it this seems to be a good proposal. It comes also at a time when British Columbians have been informed of the record cost, $4,705,000, of fire-fighting in the province this year.

The resolution covering the matter referred to the excellent service provided by the RCAF in the air-sea rescue organization and suggested that similar service could be provided by the air force in aerial spotting of fires and water-bombing. Unquestionably the RCAF resources could be integrated into fire-fighting work. It is doubtful, however, if this would be the most economic or most efficient way in which to spend federal funds.

Fire-fighting is a business which calls for special techniques, even when aircraft are employed. The RCAF, moreover, has a limited amount of equipment which could be brought into play—if it happened to be in the part of Canada which required aerial assistance in fire-fighting.

Certainly the scheme deserves study. But in any such study it would be wise to determine if costs of using RCAF men and material could not be better applied to an additional grant to provinces for fire-fighting purposes. The provincial departments have specialists in the field, have given wide consideration to the use of aircraft, particularly helicopters, in rushing flying squads to spot fires before they become serious, and very probably could secure a better return for the fire-fighting dollar than would accrue from employment of air force men and planes.

Whatever can be done to assist the forestry provinces, British Columbia in particular, to fight the danger that arises each year when temperatures rise and humidity falls will, of course, be appreciated.

Mr. Rahman's Paradox

MALAY'S PRIME MINISTER Tunku Abdul Rahman asks: "Is it possible to talk of permanent peace when China is kept out of disarmament discussions?"

Yes. It is possible to talk on the subject, but there is little prospect that anything but talk would emerge from such discussions.

There is little prospect, either, of Mr. Rahman convincing the United States at this time that it should take the initiative in calling together "all friendly nations, all those in the Western bloc, to have heart-to-heart talks" on the admission of Red China into the United Nations.

As the United States moves to its election in the next few days, American opinion toward Red China is much too sensitive to expect any variation from the previous opposition to such a course.

Malay's Prime Minister is the supreme optimist if he thinks otherwise. But his words are probably not wasted. They draw United States' attention once again to the fact that virtually all other nations recognize the impossibility of ignoring a government which controls the destinies of almost a quarter of the world's population.

But Mr. Rahman has failed to indicate how the United States, in its unique commitments to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, can evade the responsibilities it has assumed from those days when the Nationalists were allies in a war of survival and also charter members of the United Nations.

Reading, or Reading About?

A RECENT REPORT ON "Graduate Education in the United States" quotes a startling statistic regarding the literacy of students in that country. Dr. Bernard Berelson estimates that 80 per cent of the entering graduate students come with unsatisfactory "writing and organizing ability." The College Entrance Examination Board adds to this with the assertion that many high school graduates "reach college unprepared to read intelligently and unable to express themselves clearly."

These are not new charges. But the College Board's action is new. It proposes to seek a solution through a firm alliance between teachers and professors. There will be advanced education of teachers in summer institutes with modern aids. There will be a campaign against what the New York Times calls "the lazy habit of reading about literature rather than reading it as it was meant to be read—in the original." And the principles of grammar and vocabulary are to be stressed as they have not been in recent times.

Some of the complaints may apply to Canada, and some of the proposed remedies. There can be no room for complacency in this country. But in any case, to us, as to the United States, the dictum applies: that "a nation, to defend itself in modern competition, cannot be satisfied with technological competence. It must also be literate."

"How would you fellows like a little change from thinking.... Help me worry for a while...."

THE JOY OF IGNORANCE

By B. A. TOBIN

Never a Dull Moment for Us Nature Lovers

EXPERTS get so much praise and adulation these days, it's time some body put in a word for the dub. That doesn't mean just the amateur, of course, since some amateurs know more about their particular study than the professionals.

Being interested in a subject—say bird-watching or geology, or botany or meteorology—drives some people to try to learn more about it. They do field studies, join clubs, take part in discussions, read books and maybe end up writing them. They become experts, but I think in many ways they lose a lot because of this.

There are a good many of us, perhaps many more than the world suspects—who are interested in subjects without allowing ourselves to become informed. We are attracted but not trapped, diverted but not infatuated. And we like it that way.

There's a good reason. The expert becomes so expert that he is in grave danger of becoming bored. The ordinary miracles become so common to him that he no longer sees them as miracles—they're just specimens.

Esoteric Stuff

The expert meteorologist looks at a glorious sunset—and all he sees is strato-cumulus clouds (or is it cumulonimbus?). The expert botanist examines a plant, even so humble a one as, say, Salal, with its shiny green leaves and virile rosy stems. But does he become lost in admiration of its tiny, delicate flower, fascinated by the sheen of its leaf? Hah!

"Gaultheria Shallon," he mutters, and passes on.

Who hasn't watched a bird zooming among the trees and admired its smooth flight, its flashing plumage and split-second precision, its sense of glorious freedom? But these are delights only for the dub. The expert thinks merely, "Ho hum, Cyanoptera stellata, subspecies stellata."

The point is that with increasing knowledge you lose the awe and wonder, the dewy freshness of the fellow who hardly knows one cloud, plant or bird from another. For him all the world is a glorious treasure house of surprises, only slightly marred by occasional halting efforts to remember what it is he is looking at and whether it is the same thing he saw yesterday.

The dub can go through life with appreciation undimmed, pleasure undiluted. No fact can spoil his rapture, no statistic or scientific term detract from the wonderful newness and mystery of everything.

Mental Impediments

Take a nature walk with an expert and you'll come home staggering under a weight of facts and theories, crammed with figures and nomenclature, struggling to digest and remember an indigestible and unrememberable load of information.

But take a stroll with a dub, a nature-loving babe-in-arms who has conscientiously permitted no fact to enter his head and spoil his appreciation. Life under such conditions is indeed a glorious adventure!

"Just look there," he says appreciatively, "over there, at that lovely tree. One of those, ah, what do you suppose? An alder? Or cottonwood, or something? See the leaves, just turning yellow. That's due to, uh, some change in the pigmentation, I think they call it. You know, chlorophyll and all that."

"Say, isn't that a little mouse there? Or a mole, or a shrew? Or what are those other little things... never can remember them. Look at his beady little eyes... Say, he seems to have a bushy tail. Would that be a squirrel? Or maybe a chipmunk? And look at him eating that acorn or chestnut or whatever it is. They sure go for seeds, don't they? Or is a nut a seed?"

There's one of those mushroom things. Don't touch it, it might be poison. There's some way to tell them apart, but I never can remember. Cute, isn't it? Maybe it's a toadstool. I hear they don't have seeds, just spores... whatever they are. Or is it only puffballs that have spores? Must look it up some time.

Semi-Facts

"I've always been interested in these fungus things. Anywhere you see them you'll find rotting wood. No, wait a minute, it's flying ants that show that, isn't it? Anyway, I've always liked them. They look good enough to eat. In fact, you CAN eat them... or maybe it's skunk cabbage roots. The Indians used to do something with skunk cabbage roots... or the African natives... or somebody."

"Lots of these little things-a-majigs out today, aren't there? You know, these little bug things. It's the moisture in the air that brings them out. They only live a few minutes... or is it hours... or days? Or else they migrate... or probably hibernate. But anyway, it's certainly wonderful isn't it? I'm just crazy about Nature."

Such a man can never be bored, never become blasé, never lose his interest in the world around him through knowing too much about it. Life for him is a perpetual eye-opener, a never-failing source of wonder and delight, an unending challenge.

We've all heard of Wordsworth's Peter Bell, of whom it was written, "A primrose by a river's brim a yellow primrose was to him, and it was nothing more."

For all us dubs, too, it may never be anything more. But at least, thank goodness, it will never be anything less.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Action on Molester

Our police force in particular, and our newspapers in part, are doing a fine job of boshing-up the job of capturing our kissing molester.

Admittedly better equipped and better trained police than those of Victoria and Saanich have failed to catch equally elusive mental patients. However, the additional failure to admit their frustration, because, according to Mrs. Marge Naysmith in the press Oct. 27, "people are becoming over-excited about this" and they "didn't want the newspapers to get it" (news of the molester attack) could be unforgivable.

Unforgivable. Yes, because more than one woman has been strangled during a passionate kiss by apparently relatively sane men. Obviously we have an insane person on the loose. Are the police going to endanger lives of local women by keeping them in ignorance of this man's appearance, tactics and whereabouts, just because of some people's "nerves?"

I thank our press for running the news as they receive it, but in this case it seems editorial steps might be necessary. Why not a front page plea to anyone who might suspect a husband, brother, son, father, neighbor or friend, who owns a light jacket, has longish black hair and has been acting a little queer (he might be stiff now due to a fall down Mrs. Naysmith's steps) to call police?

If the molester was your relative or friend would you want him to remain untreated until he had done great harm? A trip to the police would, at least give them a clue as to whom they could keep an eye on.

Suggestions of keeping a stick pin or short club by doors, to look out windows before opening doors and other suggestions could help the thoughtless.

I realize requests for such newspaper pleas should come from the police chief, but as this seems lacking, surely the press owes it to readers to step forward.

(Mrs.) M. V. MALONE.

1030 Nicholson Street.

Teachers' Pay

So Victoria teachers want another 12 per cent raise on top of recent generous and numerous raises.

Mr. Sewell, for the teachers, declared that wages are still rising and that teachers should get theirs. Have you forgotten so soon, Mr. Sewell, how we claimed to be professional people earning salaries? Wages, you say! We might as well be bricklayers, told by a union how few bricks to lay. As professional people teachers taught all out, regardless of salary. We taught well in the depression while grossly underpaid, but salary increases did not of themselves make us better teachers.

Mrs. Hazel Hodson states that if you want a top quality overcoat you have to pay the price for it. Let me see! An increase of $1,130 would buy a teacher fifteen top quality overcoats at $75 each. I had no idea this winter looked so severe. This increase would also buy a new car every other year.

Mrs. Hodson says the best type of professional should be attracted to teaching. Does this mean that a half million salary increase will attract a large number of superior teachers to Victoria? Far from it. The present teachers have too much sense to leave their present fine positions to create vacancies for teachers however superior. The present staff want the money for themselves. But what would they give in return for it? True there were some medalists, but so there were, when teachers had no increase.

In some industries, increased wages are justified by increased or improved output. Can Victoria teachers justify increased salaries by improved output? Is the community aware of better taught students?

Most Victoria taxpayers cannot raise their incomes, yet in this supposed democracy, the sheltered municipal employees, for the same services, continually demand a larger share of the taxpayer's dollar. Members of the School Board, stand up for the ratepayers who elected you. Remember that tramping on the heels of this group of teachers, the police, firemen, inside and outside staffs, are all lining up waiting to say: "They got theirs, we want ours."

"ALSO A TAXPAYER."

Prestige Does Count

By JOSEPH ALSOP

MOST curious moral and political questions are raised by the Nixon-Kennedy dispute about American prestige in the world, which has now been joined by President Eisenhower. These questions were especially vividly posed by a recent issue of a great national newspaper. It contained both the text of the President's Philadelphia speech on Friday and the text of the most recently unearthed confidential survey of the prestige problem by the U.S. Information Agency.

Here was the President, all bland reassurance, telling his hearers that all the kings and queens and prime ministers who have streamed through the White House "had no doubts about U.S. prestige." He did not say whether he meant to include Cuba's prime minister, Fidel Castro, for example; but he added with dignified indignation:

"In any case, whatever was America's image abroad at the beginning of this political campaign, it tends to be blurred today. This is because of unwarranted disparagement of our moral, military and political power."

But here too, on an almost adjoining newspaper page, was an official report from the very men the President himself had charged with responsibility for the "American image," as he likes to call it.

Their report, based on extensive soundings in Western Europe, bore the recent date of Oct. 10. And these men were saying that our most valued allies now believe the United States has fallen behind the Soviet Union in space, in scientific capability, in military power and even in future economic potential.

Glum Report

"Confidence in U.S. capacity for world leadership (also appears) less than satisfactory," the report glumly summed up.

It is hard to remember a comparable spectacle. There has been nothing quite like this superb denial, by the president himself, of the plain truths so recently reported by his own official subordinates. Or perhaps there has been. For one recalls Stanley Baldwin shoving into his desk drawer, as things of no account, the British intelligence reports on Hitler's rearmament.

The moral question thus raised is whether the president, like Baldwin, is consciously deceiving the nation—an act that was held to be a capital crime in ancient Athens. The answer is surely in the negative, for no one can question Dwight D. Eisenhower's essential morality.

As far as he is concerned the solution of the riddle seems to lie in the Byzantine atmosphere of the Eisenhower White House.

Harsh Realities

Harsh realities do not easily penetrate. Thus the president, with darker and darker clouds rising on every horizon, keeps happily assuring his visitors that "people-to-people relations" are what really matter, and delightedly recalling the hundreds of thousands who cheered him in India and Brazil.

But this answer to the moral question hardly extends to Vice-President Nixon. He chose to say it was downgrading America to talk about our declining prestige, long after the USIA had made its main, notoriously grim but as yet concealed report to the National Security Council, of which Nixon is a member.

Allowances must be made for the president, but explanations are in order from the president's far younger and far tougher intended heir.

Meanwhile, there is the political question, about whether this business of prestige really matters very much. Superficially it sounds like adman's stuff, especially when you start talking about it in such pure Madison Avenue terms as the "American image."

Prestige Matters

In reality, however, prestige matters greatly, because it is like a quotation on the international political market, and a quotation directly bears, furthermore, on the market's shrewd estimate of each nation's power and leadership.

A nation with little power but great leadership may have considerable prestige, as Israel does today. A nation with established power and phony leadership may retain prestige, as England did in the early 'thirties.

But for the highest quotation on the international market, a nation needs the wisest leadership and the maximum of power together.

At the present moment, moreover, the way the stock of America is quoted on the market is of truly desperate importance, since a horde of new nations and old nations in flux are now making their investment choices.

Guinea; Ghana; Cuba and too many others have already concluded that America and the West are poorer investments than the Soviet Union. If the countless other new and changing nations make the same choice as these, the situation will be uncontrollable. That is the heart of the matter.

SOLO PERFORMANCE

I think one of the most embarrassing moments in my so-called war career was when the Commanding Officer came into the Nissen Hut and found me conducting the combined forces of the London Philharmonic Orchestra and the Band of Her Majesty's Grenadier Guards in Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture. For one thing, you see, I was alone in the Nissen Hut.

—Alan Melville, British writer and popular broadcaster.

PACKAGE DEAL

All our freedoms are a single bundle. All must be secure if any is to be preserved.

—Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Landslide Either Way

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most of the political polls I have seen recently indicate that the presidential contest is so close it could be a landslide either way.

This, I must say, conflicts with the soundings I have taken as founder and sole proprietor of the Noyes Nellie Public Opinion Polling and Sampling Co.

My own findings lead me to predict that the election will end in a scoreless tie.

I base this prediction on a questionnaire I sent out recently asking my readers to designate their choice for president. The response to this request was so overwhelmingly apathetic that I was forced to conclude that nobody is going to vote this year.

As far as I know, I am the only pollster who has detected this groundswell of ennui. So if both candidates chalk up a big round zero next week, remember that I had it exclusively.

But regardless of the outcome, I intend to retire from the polling business, which is at best a precarious occupation. From now on, I plan to devote my attention to my early-bird Christmas shopping service.

I take the position that Santa Claus is more reliable than politicians.

A few days ago, in an effort to get this new venture off the ground, I passed along some gift suggestions I had gleaned from gift shoppe mail order catalogues. And now

I am ready with a new report aimed at solving that perennial problem of what to give "the man who has everything."

The ideal Xmas gift for "the man who has everything" would be something that hasn't been invented yet. I realize, however, that this suggestion isn't entirely practical.

As the next best thing, I stopped by the U.S. patent office and purchased a copy of its "official gazette," which lists things that have been invented but aren't on the market yet.

Since you can't buy them, it's safe to assume that your "man who" doesn't have one. This ought to make your shopping easier.

I'll bet, for instance, that he doesn't have a toothbrush with a water tank and faucet on the handle. Here's how it would work: When he finished brushing, he would press the handle and water would squirt into his mouth, thus combining brushing and rinsing in one operation.

Or how about an electric eraser and suction machine for his desk? It not only erases but vacuum cleans the paper afterwards.

For the man who has everything, including children, I would suggest a "baby walker." It looks like a piece of horsehoe, shaped plywood with two slots at the top and bottom. When each hold to the slots, father can walk baby around with either falling down.

Finally, I would recommend a "filtered pillow," which is stuffed with a porous material that lets the air through. It seems particularly appropriate for the man who sleeps face down.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

We Used to Give It the Needle

LONDON—For daughter Robin it was the big day—her 13th birthday. She had looked forward to it so eagerly. Last year, for instance, she had said so often: "I can hardly wait. Just think, next year I'll be a teen-ager."

Quite a milestone—a milestone that never featured in our young lives for the simple reason that teen-agers were something we never were. Just as we never had what was her special birthday present—a four-speed record player.

Sure, we had gramophones but what a different proposition it was.

My gramophone at Robin's age was a black box-like contraption with a detachable crank-handle, which you stuck in the side. The needles came in little tins, of which the lids never seemed to fit properly, so that in opening them you invariably emptied the needles all over the floor.

Needles played a big part in our youthful gramophone lives, as when you took the old portable off to the beach with you, got her all cranked up and a new Pats Waller on the turntable, only to find that you'd run out of needles.

Fibre needles—they were really something! I remember my father, a meticulous man who had a "don't breathe on it" attitude towards his prized possessions, used nothing but those fibre needles for his symphony records so that the surface would never become impaired.

After a few playings, things got so fuzzy that it was like listening to Beethoven with a blanket over your head.

Volume control—that was also something different in my youth. It consisted of a pair of pyjamas. The sound came up through a gap in the back of the machine and when in my room I'd be getting moony about some girl to the strains of Dancing With Tears in Your Eyes and my parents would shout "Give it a rest," into the hole I'd stuff an old pair of pyjamas.

For "Extra Quiet" it required ramming them hard in and adding a towel.

Certainly another world from these fingertip-control days.

LICENSING NOT ANSWER

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Tourist Association Tuesday went on record as opposing compulsory licensing of small pleasure craft operators. A resolution passed unanimously, said licensing would affect many members of the tourist industry, create hardship without accomplishing significant good.

BUT HE MAY BE 'SAFE' SAYS COMMISSION

Canadian 'Fuehrer' Suspended From Job

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Balcer said Tuesday Andre Bellefeuille, 30, who identified himself as fuhrer of the Nazi party in Canada, has been suspended from his job as a draughtsman for the transport department.

Mr. Balcer said the self-styled leader of a Nazi movement with branches in five provinces has not reported for work this week, but as a qualified civil servant he cannot be dismissed except by cabinet order following an investigation by the Civil Service Commission.

A commission source said it has not completed its study of

Mr. Bellefeuille's activities but that it may not be an infraction of the Civil Service Act to be the leader of a Nazi party in Canada.

The political partisanship section of the Civil Service Act, which is being studied by government lawyers, says that any civil servant shall be dismissed for engaging "in partisan work in connection with any election," or from dealing in political party funds.

"It is not at all sure that this fellow has done anything that he can be called to account for," the commission source said.

JURY OUT FOR 13 DAYS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thirteen days after they took the case, one man and 11 women are still pondering the fate of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his sweetheart, Carol Tregoff.

The judge presiding at their second trial on murder charges Tuesday refused a defence plea that the jurors be dismissed as unable to agree. The first trial ended that way—after 11 weeks of testimony and seven days of deliberation.

PRECEDENT FEARED

Committee Upset By Free Pencils

Greater Victoria Inter-municipal committee Tuesday asked Greater Victoria School Board to "discontinue" the practice of supplying free pencils and exercise books for Grade I pupils.

Committee members said they felt the school trustees' action set a precedent which makes it possible later to provide more free supplies to other grades.

School board chairman W. C. Gelling told the committee that the program cost $671, "about 25 cents per pupil per year," and was paid for entirely by the provincial department of education.

He said it was instituted to ensure standardization of writing materials in the first grade when pupils begin learning to write so that all have an equal staff. The present board had no intention of extending the program to other grades.

Juvenile detention home committee and Oak Bay delegates urged construction of a new detention home to provide segregated and maximum security quarters for "toughs" but the committee voted to await more information about the effect of the new joint Family and Juvenile Court.

Saanich Reeve George Chatterton said proponents of the court had said it would reduce the need for a detention home where juveniles are held before trial—and he felt the court should be given some time to show whether this was true or not.

Several delegates contended that lowering of the juvenile age limit from 18 years to 16 would eliminate most of the need for a security-type of detention home.

The committee turned down a motion that the attorney-general be approached again regarding the age limit but later Esquimalt council agreed to make the request itself.

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele also argued that police should be given authority to decide whether or not juveniles would be held in jail pending trial. This is prohibited under present legislation.

"It shocks me that anyone would want to make this into a police state," replied Oak Bay Coun. Allan Cox. "The legislature sure didn't want that and neither do the police."

Committee recommended the four councils appoint city solicitor T. P. O'Grady to represent the area at a Public Utilities Commission hearing Nov. 16 in Vancouver dealing with B.C. Electric profit rates.

A $45,000 grant from the four municipalities to help with construction of a 15-bed psychiatric ward at Royal Jubilee Hospital was recommended to the four councils.

No action was taken on a Capital Region Planning Board report that $10,000 would be required for engineering studies for redevelopment of Gorge waterway.

Esquimalt Man Jailed for Year

TORONTO (CP)—Nelson M. Hickson, 39, of Esquimalt, B.C., former member of the Canadian Army, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a five-year-old theft of $10,000 from a former employer and was sentenced to 12 months in reformatory.

Hickson was arrested last month when he arrived by plane at Trenton, Ont., from Germany where he had been serving for three years with the army. The theft took place in 1955 and 1956 while Hickson was an employee of Radio Electronic Schools.

How to recognize the new VW

First of all, there's 10% more power to play with. Now the Volkswagen leaps away from lights! Increased torque means more reserve power in every gear for safer passing. And although the engine is stepped-up to 40 horse power, it's still as easy on the gas as ever.

Then there's the synchronized first gear. You no longer have to stop the car to change down to first. From second gear, you can shift down smartly into first—and whip away. And all the gear ratios have been changed to take advantage of the new engine performance.

The luggage space is bigger. There's now ten cubic feet. A full 5 up front and another 5 behind the back seat. Now you can stand all your shopping bags upright under the hood. Or take a family vacation with all your luggage neatly packed away.

The VW is constantly being improved. Unless you drive the new Volkswagen for know what to look for you can't tell it from last year's model. Or the one before that. Or the one before that. In fact, since 1948 no less than nine hundred improvements have been made to this remarkable car yet it still remains basically the same. That's why the VW retains its value. It is Volkswagen's philosophy not to change for the sake of change but to search continually for new ways to improve a great idea. Here are some more improvements in the new VW:

Automatic choke: Gone is the old manual choke. The engine idling speed is now regulated for you by an automatic choke. This prevents the Volkswagen from stalling and guarantees the correct fuel/air mixture under all conditions.

Better steering: A hydraulic damper takes the road shocks instead of the steering wheel. You keep a steady hand when the Volkswagen hits a bump.

No more carburetor icing: The new VW can't ice up. A stream of warm air from the engine is directed into the carburetor itself. Even in the coldest weather, Volkswagen's engine thinks it's summer.

Interesting new colours: The new Volkswagen looks a lot prettier. There are six brand new colours to choose from, not counting black. The interiors are freshly-styled with coloured covering on the floor. And there's even a coloured steering wheel too.

Windshield washer is standard: Now the windshield washer comes with the new Volkswagen. So does a larger door pocket, front-passenger hand-grip, twin padded sun-visors and many other features.

Some of these improvements in the De Luxe Volkswagen are also in the Custom model. Whichever you buy, we think you get the best car value in the world.

There's so much to say about the new Volkswagen, why not get it first hand at your Volkswagen dealer's tonight!

These are your nearest Volkswagen dealers. They are part of a network of 300 efficient VW service-centres across Canada.

KEN MAKES IT OFFICIAL; QUITS JOB WITH RIDERS

REGINA (CP)—Ken Carpenter has quit a last-place club as head coach and is believed going to a first-place team as assistant coach.

As expected, he resigned after one year as head coach of Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Riders have finished last in the five-team conference both this season and last.

It is believed Carpenter, 34, will accept a position as assistant coach of Denver Broncos, leaders of the Western Division of the new American Football League.

The executive of the Saskatchewan team Tuesday night accepted the resignation of Carpenter, a star half-back and end with Riders for six seasons before jumping this season to non-playing head coach.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—You got to give them guys who own the leagues a lot of credit. They're real sneaky. They don't even need a lawyer, they're so cute. I'll bet their own lawyers see a lawyer before they talk to them. You see what they done last week?

They jangled up the whole American League. In 1961, they'll have 10 teams. A few years after that they're liable to have a thousand. Baseball teams are going to be like gas stations. They'll be one at every comfort stop on the bus lines.

I'm worried about all them Cubans they got on the Washington team. Them poor guys don't get one single break off nobody. First of all Castro's liable to rob all their money off of them. I don't trust no young guy with a beard on him. If you got a hairy kisser, either you're a bum or you don't want no one to see your face. It's like a stickup guy wearing a mask.

One thing Cuba's got is warm weather. All them Cubans is used to heat. If they ain't sweating very minute, they think they got chills. In Washington, they could enjoy themselves playing ball. Anybody else would drop dead with heat prostration; they got to play double-enders in August. But with a Cuban, Washington is like two weeks in the country.

You'd think the American League would take pity on them. I mean what they're going through with Castro and all. But they send them to St. Paul and Minneapolis, where they could freeze to death. I hear ball players screaming they don't like San Francisco because it's cold. Wait until they got to play in them blizzards in St. Paul and Minneapolis. That's fog on the rocks.

Are Candidates Aware of Situation?

It ain't bad enough the Washington fans suffered with all them last-place ball clubs so many years. No wonder they passed a law a president can't work no more than two terms. Eight years is plenty to watch an eighth-place ball club. But look what Dick Nixon and Jack Kennedy got facing them.

Eighth place ain't bad enough. They're going to have to root for a ninth or a 10th-place team. No wonder they say being president kills people. It's getting worse all the time.

Instead of the Senators, a new team is coming into Washington. They sent the Cubans where they'll all get pneumonia. I'll bet they bring in a pack of Eskimos so they could smother.

You'd think the men own baseball was counterfitters, they're so afraid of the government. All some congressmen has to do is sneeze, and they say pardon me, like they was caught with their duke in the damper.

Cal Griffith ain't a Cuban, so heat ain't no bargain for him. But he wants to duck out of Washington years ago. He owns the club, but his partners in the American League roost him around like he's a Russian spy.

They say how can Washington be the Capitol of our country if there ain't a baseball team in it? You want soccer to become the national game? Don't you move, Cal, they tell him.

Soon as a few congressmen hear Cal's pulling out, they said how dare you? The owners right away said baseball will never leave the seat of our government. I'll bet the reason he took up golf is he didn't want to look at the Senators in his spare time. You blame him?

New Team to Keep Congress Happy

If Washington was no good for the old team, why's it supposed to be a bargain for a new one? I guess they're there just to keep the congressmen happy while Cal goes to Minneapolis and St. Paul and make a few bucks. I don't know why the congressmen hollered so much when Cal wanted to cut out. Washington ain't had a real big league team since Joe Cronin was traded to Boston.

I think Del Webb's stage name is American League. It's him talking any time the American League puts out an announcement. It says the American League put a team in Los Angeles, but that's just Del Webb using an alias.

Some dirty trick because O'Malley was on his vacation in Honolulu when he heard about it. Honolulu is where the centre-fielder plays in the Coliseum. It's a joint big enough for the two teams to play their games at the same time.

The new people could even save money playing there. With the short leftfield wall, they don't need a leftfielder. An ambitious shortstop will do. I'll bet though, O'Malley suggests they play their home games in Yellowstone Park. At least they'd have plenty of parking space.

Los Angeles got two teams now. Minny and St. Paul got a second-hand one. The Congressmen got some place to go in Washington at night. But what about Kansas City? I guess they'll move into Washington when the new Senators go to St. Louis and become the Browns.

School Boot Shutout Made Possible by Pair

A pair of first-half goals by Warren Chapman led Belmont High to a 2-0 conquest of Mount Douglas Tuesday and moved them into sole possession of fourth place in the Inter-High Senior Soccer League standings.

The match at Reynolds Road Park was an even affair marked by very close checking on the part of both squads.

As Belmont was late in arriving at Reynolds Park, the game was completed in almost total darkness.

Today Mount Douglas was at Victoria High. Belmont travelled to Royal Oak, Milnes Landing played at Esquimalt and Oak Bay played host to Mount View.

Suburban Action To Start Friday

The Saanich and Suburban Basketball League prizes the lid off another season Friday evening.

Launching activities will be a triple-header at Brentwood Community Hall. Soke teams will oppose host clubs, with a midget boys' game starting at 7:30, bantams at 8:30 and juvenile girls at 9:30.

Steve Has Own System; Sends Boys to Movies

EDMONTON (CP)—Calgary Stampers, on the eve of probably their most important football game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union season, went to the movies Tuesday night.

It's not the expected thing for a team to be doing, but it's possibly the reason Stampers are in the two-game, total-point playoffs against Eskimos at all.

Normally, when the chips are all on the line and the dice are ready to roll, a coach will insist on 10 straight hours of sleep. It had then left four league no, galivanting and complete absorption in the game. But Steve Owen, with 30 years of coaching professional football teams behind him, says: "I've played a lot of football in my time, and I like to treat my boys the same way I would have liked to have been treated when I was playing."

"I've been showing them movies of football games ever since I joined the club, and I thought it might be a good idea for them to see another kind, and relax."

Owen joined the club late in August following the resignation of Otis Douglas as coach. It had then left four league no, galivanting and complete absorption in the game. But Steve Owen, with 30 years of coaching professional

HE'S NOT QUITTING

Archie Heads for Salt Mines

ROME (AP)—Archie Moore Tuesday chuckled off his first defeat in four years and said, "Quit the ring? Man, I've just begun fighting."

The ageless Archie, crowding 44 or 50, but still recognized in most parts of the world as the light-heavyweight champion, said:

"I'm going back to the salt mines (that's what he calls his ranch near San Diego, Calif.) and I'm going to lock the doors, and I'm going back into training all over again."

"And when I come out," he said confidentially, "I'll be a brand-new fighter—young enough and in shape to beat any of them."

'JUST BEGUN FIGHTING'

Moore was fat and slow at 190 1/2 pounds when he lost a unanimous decision Saturday night in a 10-round, non-title fight with Italy's relatively unknown light-heavyweight champion, Giulio Rinaldi. The light-heavy limit is 175 pounds.

It was his first defeat since he was knocked out by Floyd Patterson in their heavyweight title fight Nov. 30, 1956.

Archie promised Rinaldi a chance at the world title maybe early next summer.

"Rinaldi's young and strong, and has plenty of courage," said Archie. "But I'm a distance fighter. He won't be able to stay with me for 15 rounds."

That Payoff Habit Is OK With Cats

Cougars Edge Stampers On Fizzell's Overtime Goal

Cougars 4, Stampers 3

By DOUG PEDEN

If big Bert Fizzell is really going to make it a habit, nobody around the Victoria hockey camp is going to tell him to change his ways.

The rookie winger, who is fast becoming a favorite with Cougar fans, was dubbed last season as a player who might have the rare habit of scoring payoff goals.

And Bert went a long way toward proving the theory. After collecting 47 during the regular season for Saskatoon Junior Quakers, the 19-year-old 195-pounder did even better when it counted most, notching 10 tallies in seven playoff games.

He didn't lose the touch when he started playing for pay.

Nervous as a kitten in his first professional game, Fizzell conquered his jitters in time to cash in on a payoff shot. He fired the tally that gave the Cougars a 3-2 victory over Seattle Totems in their opening game of the current WHL campaign.

Bert came up with another big one a few days later. He drilled a third-period goal that kept the Cats in business against Spokane and set the stage for an overtime tally by Doug Macauley that beat the Comets.

The blonde rookie uncorked his most spectacular payoff punch at Memorial Arena Tuesday night, banging in a goal at 3:38 of sudden-death overtime to give the Cougars a heart-thumping 4-3 triumph over Calgary Stampers.

It was a thrill-packed wind-up to a game that had been somewhat scrumbly through the first two periods and developed into a real cliff-hanger down the home stretch as the Cougars again demonstrated their ability to play their best hockey in the third period. But even after the winning shot had ended the suspense and finger-nail nibbling for the 2,291 spectators, you couldn't forget the contributions of Fizzell's linemate Don Wilson.

Extra Reason to Enjoy Last Goals

Wilson, who also toiled with the Junior Quakers last winter, flashed in for a third-period goal and made the pass for the goal that gave the Cats their fifth victory in six home games.

Also scoring for Victoria were defenceman Jim Hay, with a blistering slap shot, and Pat Ginnell, who got his first goal of the season.

For the Stampers, who were shooting for a third straight triumph, scoring chores were handled by Jim Brown, Ed Van Impe and Wally Hergesheimer.

The way the last two Victoria goals were produced must have meant an extra bit of satisfaction for Fizzell, who was bounced by Bill Burega, but definitely enjoyed the final snickers on the rough-house Calgary defenceman.

After Van Impe had banged in a screened shot that tied the game for the second time in the third period, Fizzell was bashed into the boards by Burega, who may have been attempting to intimidate the big rookie. But Fizzell, playing his finest game of the season, got the puck away around the boards and behind the Calgary goal.

It bounced out to the right of the net and Wilson, moving in alertly, slapped it past goalie Lucien Dechene to put the Cats ahead 3-2 with less than six minutes remaining in regular time.

Marcel Fooled Rookie on Breakaway

From there, the Stampers staged a series of attacks but the Cougars seemed destined to hold out after escaping damage during a late penalty to Ginnell.

Then slick Sid Finney carried the puck into the Victoria zone just as Dechene was yanked for a sixth attacker. Luce barely made it to the bench before old-pro Wally Hergesheimer flipped home a rebound from a hectic scramble with 27 seconds remaining to force the overtime session.

Marcel Pelletier to make four quick saves.

Then the Cats had their turn, swinging to the attack and just missing when Wayne North's drive barely missed a corner. But it seemed to be all over when Calgary rookie Gerry Esch got a clean break.

Going in on Pelletier, Esch moved to the right and was balked when Marcel made a great leg save and gave his mates another chance.

Rushing back, Wilson got away a pass to Fizzell. The puck deflected up against Bert's chest and the husky rookie barged between Burega and Fred Hucul and gained control of the puck in time to flip a neat shot past Dechene and break it up.

Stampers, flashing more speed and getting away with more interference and holding than a football club, had an edge in play during the first two periods, but were trailing 2-1 going into the third session.

Cougars played their best hockey in the third, but the Stampers got the extra goal and almost pulled out the win.

Victory boosted the Cats, into a four-way tie for second place. They make their next start Friday night at Memorial Arena when Portland Buckaroos come to town.

Maloney Fires Four For Bisons

QUEBEC (CP)—Buffalo Bisons Tuesday night climbed into fourth position in American Hockey League, beating Quebec Aces 4-2 before 7,724 fans.

Veteran Phil Maloney scored all four goals for his team—the first AHL player to bag four this season.

Quebec scorers were Mauril Morrisette and Jackie Leclair. Maloney played in the National Hockey League with various teams in four different seasons, including a stint last year with Chicago Black Hawks.

SCORING CHAMP

But most of his 13 years as a pro have been spent in the minors—the American Hockey League, the Western Hockey League and the old Quebec Hockey League.

He won the WHL scoring championship with Vancouver in 1955-56 and also grabbed the league's most valuable player award. His point total that season was 95.

Toronto Recalls Veteran Wilson

TORONTO (CP)—Coach Punch Imlach of Toronto Maple Leafs has named National Hockey League veteran Johnny Wilson as a first-choice replacement for injured George Armstrong and Larry Regan against Boston tonight.

Wilson was farmed out to Rochester of the American League this season by the parent Leafs.

MIRACLE DIET PAYS DIVIDEND FOR HOOPSTER

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Woody Sauldsberry of the St. Louis Hawks basketball team made $1,000 Tuesday with three pounds to spare.

Owner Ben Kerner of the National Basketball Association club offered Sauldsberry an extra $1,000 if he could lose 10 pounds in 10 days.

Sauldsberry, acquired recently from Philadelphia Warriors, weighed in Tuesday at 224—13 pounds lighter than when Kerner made his offer 10 days ago.

Lions Have Hopes Walden'll Be Back

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union and not Uncle Sam apparently have the inside track on quarterback Jim Walden's services next year.

Walden, who replaced former Iowa star Randy Duncan as the Lions' top signal caller early in the 1960 season, received his classification call this week. He must report for a medical immediately.

But this does not mean that Walden will be drafted by the United States army next year.

The draft call follows the medical, but that depends upon a number of factors, including the quota of draftees from his area (Wyoming) and Walden's scholastic and family status.

Working to Walden's—and the Lions'—benefit is the fact that Jim has six months of schooling remaining and will be safe from call until next June. Also, the Waldens are expecting a child in the spring, and this, too, will help his draft status.

LIONS OPTIMISTIC

The Lions are optimistic that middleweight boxing crown by he will be available for next season. If he has to go into military service, he'll be available to join on a six-month leave of absence, followed by 12 years of reserve duty.

It was first thought Walden

Swordplay Hits College Campus

By LES MILLIN

En garde! The Victoria College Fencing Club is in action as of next week, waving their swords in the best Three Musketeers' manner.

Varsity fencers watched a demonstration by experts on Monday, and they are agreed on an early start in the gentle art of swordplay. Their first practice is next Tuesday.

Ten prospective fencers, led by Dan O'Brien, president of the club, will receive instruction from Mr. Modos of the Victoria Fencing Club and they are looking for company. Costs look rather prohibitive at first, but the loan of fencing equipment from HMCS Victoria has pared them down to $6 monthly. This means that members get their foils, masks and fencing jackets free, and pay only for the instruction.

All members are beginners, so the attendance of more novices will not slow the operations.

Big plans are afoot for later in the year, when the swordsmen are satisfied they can face outside competition. There is a fencing club at the University of British Columbia and another at the University of Washington, so inter-collegiate matches could be arranged.

This will not be till later in the season, perhaps in the spring term. But in the meantime: En garde!

Viking rugby gets rolling again Thursday with games at Naden and at Royal Roads. The "A" team takes on Venture in the navy game and the "B" squad is matched with the Roads' cadets.

This is the big chance for the Viking comeback, after multiple injuries had weakened the team. The college crew won their first three games, were soundly beaten in their fourth game, against Royal Roads, and lost their fifth game, against Oak Bay Wanderers.

Some of the injured men are back on the field now and the XV is set on coming back with a bang. The heavy Viking front line is again in action, which means that the offensive plays which carried the team through its first triumphs is again a threat.

College basketball has the Viking "Bs" playing against Oak Bay High School Thursday at the Oak Bay gymnasium. The "B" team has chalked up one victory and prospects look good.

Remember the 12th of November, because that's the day we get to see the senior Vikings "A" in action for the first time.

November 12 is homecoming at Victoria College, and the featured entertainment in the evening will be this basketball game, "A" Vikings versus former college hoopers. The first team is an exhibition-only team this year, and this will be its first game.

Speaking of homecoming, it will be former players versus present teams in the rugby and volleyball games, as well as with the cage artists. UBC will send its second soccer team to play the college squad in the afternoon.

All games are at Gordon Head campus, and sports fans will be able to see many of the major college teams in action some time during the day.

There are both indoor and outdoor events, and spectators will be able to take their pick of sports to watch.

Our star lady athletes, the girls' "A" grass hockey team, carved another notch on their sticks after a 9-0 victory over Ravens last week. The girls are still unbeaten.

Quit Bickering, Frick Orders Major Leagues

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick has ordered the American and National Leagues to stop bickering and get together on future expansion.

Frick, disturbed over efforts of one league to get the jump on the other in order to acquire the more lucrative franchises, met American League President Joe Cronin and National League head Warren Giles Tuesday and insisted on co-operation between the leagues in any further expansion.

One league should let the other know of its plans, Frick said, against secret meetings in which a city suddenly finds it has a major league franchise.

Frick also announced the procedure to be adopted to staff Los Angeles and Washington, the "new American League clubs, for the 1961 season. No provisions were made to supply players for Houston, Tex., and New York, new National League clubs, because they are not scheduled to operate until 1962.

Los Angeles and Washington, immediately upon acceptance for membership Nov. 17, will be entitled to sign free agents and to exchange or purchase players under the existing rules of baseball.

The two clubs also will be given special draft privileges. Under normal rules they would not be permitted to draft because they didn't operate last season.

Frick said the American League has agreed on a formula to supply players from the roster of the current eight clubs to the two newcomers.

Branch Rickey Tuesday accused the American League of a "breach of good faith" for not accepting two Continental League groups in its expansion program.

Rickey, president of the defunct Continental League, called upon Congress to "protest major league expansion without the high minor leagues."

Rickey's prepared statement was released to the press shortly after he met R. V. Taylor, chairman of the board of the Buffalo group seeking a big league franchise.

ENCOURAGED After the meeting, Taylor said he was encouraged about the chances of Buffalo getting into the National League along with Dallas-Fort Worth when the league expands to 12 clubs in 1963 or 1964.

Rickey claimed in his statement that the American League reneged on a commitment by its expansion committee to accept four Continental League cities and their personnel, two immediately and two later. The AL took in none, although Minneapolis-St. Paul, a Continental member, gets a big league club by the transfer of Calvin Griffith's Washington franchise.

Rickey said the American League's action was not expansion but "simply extension." He said if the American League can validate the reserve clause, expansion of major league baseball becomes impossible.

CASEY'S IN NO HURRY TO ACCEPT NEW POST

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A tug-of-war may be in the making for the services of Casey Stengel as baseball manager. But the former boss of New York Yankees will take his own time about accepting a job.

John E. Fetzer, owner of Detroit Tigers, talked with Stengel here Tuesday and tried to persuade him to take over as Tiger manager. Casey said it will be a few weeks before he decides on one of many offers he has received.

Hank Greenberg, heading a syndicate which wants to set up a new Los Angeles franchise in the American League, says he wants to talk to Stengel about managing, but "we'll have to get the franchise first and I don't think we should approach him now."

Victoria Bs of the local senior B basketball league will take the floor at Mount View High tonight with a brand new name.

As the Naval Vets the squad is scheduled to meet Hudson's Bay at 7 p.m. At 8:30 the men take over with a game between King's Hotel and Horgan's Aces.

Dark, a fullback and sprinter at Louisiana State, believes in the run-run-run and hustle-every-second style of baseball.

He personified the smart player—in the field, at bat and on the bases.

Dark has played every position except catcher in the major leagues and he was ready to step behind the plate if needed. In short, he wants to win and he's never spared himself in the quest for victory.

Mounties Are Ready For Another Campaign

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Mounties of the triple-A Pacific Coast League are ready to operate in the 1961 baseball season.

President Nat Bailey made the announcement here Tuesday night following a five-hour meeting with directors. A new financing deal has been worked out and at least a portion of the club's $72,000 debt from its 1960 operations will be taken over, Bailey said.

However, he would not discuss the question further.

"Everything's okay," said Bailey. "We're definitely ready to go for next year."

The announcement ended a month of tension for club directors and fans. At one stage it was hinted the club would fold and Vancouver would lose its PCL franchise.

General manager Bob Freitas said he now will be able to continue negotiations to play several Saturday afternoon games next season in neighboring New Westminster's Queens Park. In previous years games were played at Capilano Stadium here.

PROSPECTS BETTER

Next step for the Mounties will be to present the new financing plan to Dewey Soriano, league president, and league directors. This must be done by November 15 by all clubs under the PCL constitution.

Bailey said prospects looked much better than they did at the same time a year ago. The big difference is the club's full working agreement with the National League Milwaukee Braves and control over concessions.

Village Joins Search

(Compiled from CP)
PRINCE RUPERT—Almost an entire Indian village has turned out to search for a neighbor, his wife and baby after a terse note was found in a swamped fishboat north of here.

A note saying: "We are going to die," was found last weekend sealed in a jar in the gillnetter Spicer Isle. Its owner, Ambrose Wells, about 40, his wife Pauline and their baby were missing.

A search was immediately started and so far no trace had been found of the family.

It is believed the Wells trio were tossed into the sea between Prince Rupert and the Indian village of Port Simpson, 20 miles to the north, during a storm.

"When something like this happens," an RCMP officer said, "the chief calls a meeting and everybody gets in on it."

The search was to continue today.

WON'T WORK

BURNABY—Oakalla prison warden Hugh Christie said Tuesday 60 prisoners have been segregated for an indefinite period because they refused to work in the rain. The prisoners, who will remain segregated until they change their minds, have lost all privileges.

YOUTH NEGLIGENT

CASTLEGAR—Magistrate Parker Williams on Tuesday found Leonard Gallo guilty of criminal negligence in connection with the death near here in June of Janice Nixon in a car accident which followed a high school graduation party. The youth was fined $125 plus costs, but the magistrate agreed to leave decision on suspension of his driving licence to the motor vehicles superintendent.

YOUTH SHOT

CASTLEGAR—A 16-year-old youth is in critical condition in hospital here following a shooting Monday night.

Peter Makortoff of Castlegar was struck in the neck by a bullet said to have been fired by a school companion.

LAND FRAUD CHARGE

VANCOUVER—Charges of conspiring to deprive a nearby Richmond couple of land were laid today against three men and two real estate firms.

Richmond school board secretary Arthur Nassett, Irving J. Udy and George T. Greenwell were arrested and later released on $5,000 bail each.

All are charged with unlawfully conspiring to deprive Herbert and Susanne Ziebarth of a portion of their title to certain lands in the municipality of Richmond.

'NEW PARTY' MAY STICK

TORONTO (CP)—Stanley Knowles, vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said Tuesday the new party being formed by the CLC, the CCF and other groups may be officially called the New Party.

Mr. Knowles, chairman of the national committee for the party which will be formed at a founding convention next summer, said in an interview the name will be seriously considered.

"I don't know where the name New Party started," Mr. Knowles said. "At first it was just mentioned that we were trying to start a new party. Now it's being capitalized."

Earlier, Mr. Knowles said the name helped Walter Pitman win a House of Commons seat in Monday's byelection in the Peterborough riding.

THEFT CHARGES AT VANCOUVER

Theatre Manager Arrested

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Panrucker, former manager of the $6,000,000 city-owned Queen Elizabeth Theatre, Tuesday night was arrested and charged with theft of $20,317 and forgery.

Bail was set at $10,000, pending Panrucker's appearance in police court today.

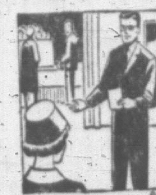

Panrucker was suspended more than a month ago. He was named theatre manager in December, 1957, at $657 a month.

He is charged with theft of $12,058 from the city of Vancouver, $5,000 from the Burrard Lions Activities Society, Norway's population increased by 1 per cent to a total of 3,595,000 in the 12 months ending Oct. 1, 1960.

The other charges allege he dealt with 18 forged theatre payroll cheques as if they were genuine, while knowing the cheques were forged.

RAMBLER AMERICAN CUSTOM 4 DOOR SEDAN

TAKE A GOOD LOOK at this one because its design is here to stay—without annual styling changes. This policy is part of Rambler's new formula for the times we live in. It means that 12 months from now your 1961 American will not be obsolete—depreciation costs will be drastically cut.

It also means that future improvements will not be superficial but genuine advancements that have been thoroughly tested and proven to be of practical use to you, the driver. As an example of this kind of improvement, the 1961 Rambler offers the world's first Ceramic-Armoured Muffler and Tailpipe that are guaranteed for the life of the car during original ownership. And this is only 1 of 46 practical improvements that make the '61 Rambler American an adventure in driving pleasure at realistic transportation price—backed up by 12,000 mile or 12 month warranty.

In establishing this up to date design, trunk space has been increased by 50%, there is more glass area, and without increasing wheelbase the American is more compact, making driving in heavy traffic, parking and turning easier than ever before. All these accomplishments are a direct result of Rambler's 11 years experience in compact car design.

In the economy department, Rambler American remains unbeaten. This king of economy runs not only tempts you with surprising low initial cost but keeps its value better than any other North American car.

Try this new formula for modern driving soon. See your local Rambler dealer and test-drive the Rambler American model of your choice.

Who Stole the Silverware?

Sombody has stolen the best express the ideal of college spirit. Last year it was awarded to the college rugby team after its triumphant sea-unofficial award given every year to the group of Victoria College students who seem to disappeared from its place of honor on the wall of the college cafeteria.

This isn't the first time. The trophy disappeared toward the end of last year after it had been given to the rugby team, only to reappear after a few days on a flagpole at the top of the college clock tower.

On that occasion, the owners tracked down the person they felt responsible and painted the name of the team on his bare back in red paint. The husky ruggers are on the prowl again with vengeance in their eyes. They don't intend to give up the trophy with a smile!

"LOVE CONQUERS"

The Maycock Trophy came into existence three years ago and its name is a composite of the names of the two students who thought up the idea, Anne Mayhew and Ron Cook. It is dedicated to students to whom the college can say, "Well done!" and bears a lengthy inscription followed by the Latin phrase, "Amor vincit omnia—Tuum Est." (Love conquers all—it is up to you.)

Miss Mayhew is still at Victoria College. A fourth-year arts student, she will be one of the first graduates of the college.

The trophy was awarded for the first time to the Gun Crew, the students who placed a small cannon from Royal Roads Military College on the steps of the Ewing Building of the Lansdowne campus of Victoria College.

STATUE THEFT?

The next year, 1960, it was awarded to the Rugby Club for "valuable services" rendered to the college by that group. No specific act of the team was given in the "citation" but it has been suggested the "infamous" theft of the Queen's statue from the city hall might have had some connection.

What will be the "deed" this year, if and when the Maycock Trophy turns up?

The English mastiff, ancestor of most modern mastiff varieties, was bred as a powerful watchdog more than 2,000 years ago.

'WHO SAYS CUSTOMER ALWAYS IN THE RIGHT?'

TORONTO (CP)—A sales manager for a large Canadian food firm says the time has come for the Canadian restaurant industry to start talking back to the Canadian public.

L. T. Evans of the H. J. Heinz Company of Canada, Leamington, Ont., told a panel at the annual convention of the Canadian Tourist Association today "everyone has criticized the restaurant industry."

He said there are no complaints from the average Canadian when a train or plane is late, but they dress down a waitress in language "they would not dare to use on their own employees."

Too many people talked about no distinctive Canadian cuisine being served, but they were the same ones who wanted roast beef for a banquet.

Jobless Tradesmen Study N.Z. Job Offer

A number of unemployed Victorians have answered an advertisement for fully experienced carpenters and structural steel fabricators wanted by a New Zealand construction group. But so far no interviews have taken place.

Fletcher Holdings Ltd. and Associated Companies—described as New Zealand's largest construction group—advertised in The Times and other B.C. newspapers for carpenters and steel fabricators willing to migrate to New Zealand. Applicants will be interviewed by a representative of the group at the National Employment Office in Victoria.

He mentioned expected extensions to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, building of the new RCMP barracks, new premises for the Salvation Army, extensions to Pat Bay Airport and the construction of more apartment blocks.

MOBILIZING LULL
"There is a lull at the moment," the spokesman said, "but we expect there will be plenty of construction soon."

The New Zealand group is offering a guaranteed minimum of two years' work at "ruling New Zealand rates."

The advertisement states that preference will be given to single men able to pay their own fare. But "in special cases fare may be advanced and deducted from earnings."

It says that a representative of Fletcher Holdings will interview applicants "immediately" and those selected "must be prepared to leave for New Zealand immediately upon being hired."

Fletcher Holdings claims a business volume of nearly $50,000,000 a year.

A spokesman for the National Employment Office said:

"This is a province-wide advertisement and it is too early yet to determine what response has been made."

PROTESTS
Farmers Want To Meet New Minister

British Columbia's farmers Tuesday brought their problems to the government and held a meeting with Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steacy.

The advisory board of the farmers' institutes of the province met the minister and members of his department at the Legislative Buildings.

Up to last year, the board made an annual submission to the House committee on agriculture during the session. The committee was composed of MLAs of all parties.

This practice was cut off amid strong protests by the farmers.

"It is a denial of democracy," a farmer said Tuesday.

"On the board is Victor Virgin, unsuccessful Conservative candidate for Saanich in the last provincial election."

The local district protested the early meeting called by Mr. Steacy Tuesday.

"He is a minister on the way out," said a spokesman. "We took it for granted the meeting would be called when a new minister was appointed."

Mr. Steacy was defeated in the provincial election.

The Queen Mother also was Sources close to the Royal absent from the state opening.

Rumors flew across teacups and beer mugs that she stayed away from Tuesday's glittering occasion because there was no seat of honor for her husband, Antony Armstrong-Jones.

A Clarence House spokesman, asked whether there was any significance to Margaret's absence, replied:

"Absolute nonsense."

As a royal princess, Margaret always sits on the front row in the House of Lords, close to the throne.

OPERAS' STAGE DIRECTION SADLY LACKING

The Singers Made It Worthwhile

BY AUDREY JOHNSON

Once again, in the two short operas presented Tuesday night at the Royal Theatre, New York Festival Opera Company proved that its single great merit lies in the quality of its principal singers.

This in itself, of course, makes its visit worthwhile.

Judging from the numerous curtain calls demanded at the end of three hours of "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci," the near-capacity audience would hang out a warm welcome sign if the company should return another year.

Considering that opera is sung drama and that therefore the singing is the principal element, it is certainly preferable to have strength in that department.

But on the other hand such vocal calibre as this company showed warranted far better stage direction than any of the three productions shown here demonstrated.

MORE BY NOISE

The conductor, Vincent La Selva, worked hard to keep everything going at a proper pace and to build the essential climaxes, but these were achieved more by noise than real intensity as the heavy-handed orchestra burned up brass and strings.

And surely a chorus in a professional company—even a touring one—should not have to freeze into the immobility of hypnotized rabbits in order to follow the conductor. Still, we had a quite thrilling Turiddu in Rudolf Petrak whose splendid tenor voice was an evening's ample reward in itself.

HIGHLIGHT

Rosalina Mafresca, who sang Santuzza opposite him in "Cavalleria" gave a performance that was the feminine highlight of all three productions.

Not only is she possessed of a lovely and brilliant voice but she moves about the stage as a trained actress should, smoothly, with 'point' and style, every gesture expressive and clearly defined. She was never out of character and conveyed the sense of tragedy with compelling force.

Excellent singing was also heard from Robert Atherton in the same opera, and Arthur Budny and Russell Christopher in "Pagliacci."

Carlos Barrena, who sang Canio in "Pagliacci" was another outstanding artist. His Tuesday to Hollywood director "Vesti la giubba" was admirably sung as was his tragic finale.

WED—British movie actress Jean Simmons was married Tuesday to Hollywood director Richard Brooks. Miss Simmons was formerly married to actor Stewart Granger.

Film Executive Held In Wife Murder Plot

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Movie executive James Howlett was accused Tuesday of trying to hire a man to murder the wealthy 78-year-old woman he married secretly three years ago.

Howlett, 64, who police said has been an associate producer of Independent Films, was jailed on suspicion of soliciting a murder.

Detectives said they recorded a conversation he had Monday night in a parked car with a man who had advertised in a newspaper he would do anything for $1,000.

Officers said Howlett agreed to give the man $2,000 to kill his wife, Leone, with a lead pipe next Monday night.

Henry Lucero, 32, placed the ad in a newspaper Oct. 14. He told police he received a letter from Howlett saying: "If you are really desperate and interested enough, give your phone number in an ad."

Malta Fever Strikes Liz

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Mail reports Elizabeth Taylor's doctors think she has Malta fever, which usually lasts three months and requires another two months' convalescence.

Miss Taylor has been ill since early October.

The disease usually is caught in Mediterranean countries from infected goat's milk. Before coming to Britain in September, Miss Taylor and her husband, singer Eddie Fisher, spent a vacation in Rome and the Greek islands.

The centre of Cortes Island, 15 miles long at the north end of the Strait of Georgia, is 1,000 feet above sea level.

Do your communications rate a second look?

The equipment this receptionist is using rates close inspection. It's the latest type of PABX. (Translation: Private Automatic Branch Exchange.) And it does a whole lot more than just sit there and look handsome. It provides the most efficient telephone service available. Handles up to 90 inside phones; answers, holds and transfers calls by pushbuttons.

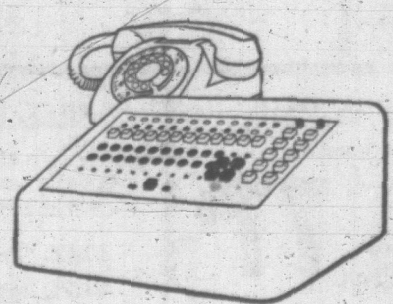

And compact! This office switchboard takes less desk space than a typewriter. Its mechanics are stored away from your reception area. Inter-office and incoming calls are taken on a matching desk phone. Or on a headset if you prefer.

This automatic switchboard gives your receptionist more hours free to type, file, answer correspondence. So easy to use, anyone can pinch-hit for her lunch hours and coffee breaks. It's like hiring help without hiring people.

And the PABX costs less than people. It's rented. You have no capital expenditure, depreciation or maintenance. A moderate monthly rental includes regular service calls from B.C. Telephone.

Modern communications are important to every business. They save you time, save you money, help you sell. From a telephone to a Teletype... all equipment has a lifetime guarantee. Our representative will tailor a complete communications system to suit your business and your budget. He'll be calling on you soon... sooner if you make an appointment through our new Marketing and Sales Department.

Want to know more about our PABX? Have your receptionist phone us. In Vancouver it's MU 3-5511. Outside Vancouver, ask the Operator for Zenith 7000. (No charge for the call.) We'll send you a PABX brochure pronto.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions by letter to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe. Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Julia Spicer, age 12, of Tulsa, Okla., for her question:

How do you make a magnet?

Natural magnets are found in the ground, though we have no idea how they are made. The material is a rather soft, heavy metallic compound of iron and oxygen. For a long time these were the only magnets known and they were very precious. These so-called lodestones, or leading-stones, were used by the Chinese to make the first compasses.

We do not know when mankind learned to make his own magnets, but most likely he made the discovery by accident. For under certain conditions, magnetism is catching. If you have a little bar magnet, you can pass its magic on to a nail or a needle. You can even use it to magnetize a small bar of iron or steel.

Touch one end of your bar magnet to a nail. The nail, of course, will cling to the magnet. Now touch the nail to another nail. The second nail will cling to the first. With a bit of magnetized iron you can make a whole chain of steel.

of nails clinging to one another. They will stay that way only so long as the first nail touches the magnet. Remove the magnet, and the chain of nails breaks apart. The first nail, of course, caught some of the magnet's magic magnetism. The second nail caught it from the first and so on. This magnetism, however, was only temporary. The nails lost their magic when contact with the magnet was removed.

Now touch your bar magnet to a steel needle. The needle will take longer to magnetize, but it will stay magnetized. This is why most permanent magnets are made of steel. In industry, some of the most powerful magnets are made from alloys of aluminum, nickel and iron. A magnet of platinum and cobalt makes an even stronger magnet. A small nail, of course, will cling to a bar of one of these alloys can be made into a permanent magnet by merely touching it to a magnet.

Electric Current Helps

Use one end of a bar magnet to stroke a bar of steel and you have a brand new magnet.

Magnets, both temporary and permanent, can be made with the help of an electric current. The current runs through a coil of insulated wire. The metal is a piece of iron or steel. The electric current magnetizes the metal within its coils.

If the metal inside the coil is soft iron, it becomes a temporary magnet. This principle is used to make the useful electromagnet, used for lifting great loads of scrap iron. When the current is turned on, iron is magnetized and can lift heavy loads of metal. When the current is turned off, so is the magnetism and the load of metal is dropped. If the metal inside an electric coil is the right steel alloy, it-of-war is a draw, with each can be made into a permanent magnet.

How do the planets stay in place?
The nine planets are held in the Solar System by the gravity of the sun. This mighty pull keeps them from flying away into outer space. But, why does it not pull all the planets down into its blazing furnace? There must be something which pulls in the opposite direction from the sun's gravity. This opposite pull is centrifugal force. The planets get on, iron is magnetized and can lift heavy loads of metal. When the current is turned off, so is the magnetism and the load of metal is dropped. If the metal inside an electric coil is the right steel alloy, it-of-war is a draw, with each can be made into a permanent magnet.

IN FRAUD CASE

Police 'Pickups' Protested Again

The second city lawyer in a month to criticize police operations objected in Saanich police court Tuesday to an alleged practice of detaining suspects for questioning without placing them under arrest.

James Proudfoot protested during prosecutor Kenneth Murphy's examination of Det. Robin Stewart in the trial of a fraud case involving a Calgary man.

Det. Stewart was saying he proposed in his investigation to ask 22-year-old Dennis Maxwell Paulson, charged with defrauding an elderly Prospect Lake woman in a magazine subscription deal, to answer certain questions at Royal Oak police station.

MUST STOP

"This nonsense about policemen picking people off the street and taking them down to ask questions has got to stop," Mr. Proudfoot said strenuously.

"And I say this with the greatest respect through the court," he said. "No citizen should be picked up in this manner. It's happening too often."

This was apparently a reference to current charges alleged against certain city policemen by lawyer David Hummel, defending a young man for possession of stolen property.

Mr. Hummel has said police held his client incommunicado for some eight hours, and acted improperly in other matters.

In Tuesday's hearing, Det. Stewart attempted to defend what he had done and began to say something about people "blowing off" about the police, but was cut short by Magistrate William Ostler.

Mr. Murphy said he would try to lead evidence that would put the matter straight and resumed his examination of Det. Stewart.

HE CONSENTED

The policeman made it clear that in each instance where he wished Paulson to do something, such as get into a police car or accompany him to the police station, he asked and the accused consented.

"If he (Paulson) had got up and walked out of the office, we would gladly have let him go. We would have carried on the investigation in another way," Det. Stewart said.

Paulson was arrested Oct. 14 and charged with defrauding Ella Peterson, 5036 Prospect Lake Road, and with failing to have a trade licence to carry on business in Saanich.

JUST TELLS ME

Det. Stewart said he asked Mrs. Peterson, "Do you know why you give him money?" No, she said. "He just tells me I owe him $20 and I give him $20."

There were no receipts given, he quoted the woman.

One time he went to her house and she had no money, Det. Stewart told the court. He said the accused told him he had told Mrs. Peterson to cash her old age pension cheque.

On the day of the investigation the accused had been given a $20 bill by Mrs. Peterson, he told the detective. Det. Stewart produced the bill, bearing his initials, and those of Det. George Walton, who accompanied him.

The case will continue Nov. 10.

EAST INDIAN HONORED IN LIBRARY PRESENTATION

Victoria's East Indian community today observed the birthday of one of their great religious teachers, Guru Nanak (1469-1539) by giving 200 historical and religious books to the Victoria Public Library. Mostly written in Punjabi and Urdu, but one of them is an English translation of the Sikh Bible.

MONTE ROBERTS

Many and varied things greet many and varied people of a Monday morning.
But I don't suppose many people were greeted, as I was last Monday morning, with this cryptic note:
EMPTY VACUUM.
Empty vacuum. Now, there is a thought for the day. How empty can a vacuum get?
If a vacuum isn't empty, how can it be a vacuum?
And even in my high school days (I ain't never been to college) I was told, and I was told and I was told, there is no such thing as a vacuum.

So if there is no such thing as a vacuum, because a vacuum to be a vacuum has to be empty and nobody has yet been able to empty a vacuum and thus produce a perfect vacuum, why was I greeted, last Monday, with a note saying:

EMPTY VACUUM.
I puzzled over this for a considerable time, last Monday. Fortunately, I had considerable time to puzzle over this Monday being my official day to not work.

(I have other days to not work, but they are not official, so let's not tell EVERYBODY about it, eh?)

EMPTY VACUUM.
I recognized the handwriting on this cryptic note, having seen the handwriting of My Favorite Wife on previous occasions.

Most of the previous occasions were Mondays—my day to not work, remember?—because MFW likes to leave a list of work for me to do on my days to not work.

But,

EMPTY VACUUM?

Was she asking me to develop a new Einstein theory— $0 \text{ minus } 0 \text{ minus } 0 \text{ times } 0 \text{ divided by } 0 \text{ equals } 000?$ —I asked myself as I poured myself a second cup of tea.

No, I thought to myself as I stretched out on the sofa, the better to concentrate, My Favorite Wife has something more constructive in mind.

I could hardly sleep at all, what with worrying about

EMPTY VACUUM.

Until MFW came home, and I could ask her what she meant by this cryptic note.

"Empty," she said, "is a verb-type word."

"Oh," I said, "You mean, I was supposed to do something, like?"

"Vacuum," she said, "like between your ears."

I still maintain there is no such thing as an empty vacuum, even on my day to not work.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

More than $600 has been subscribed to the fund sponsored by Colwood Volunteer Fire Department for the welfare of the seven children of Jack and Tom Cameron, Colwood residents killed in a highway accident Oct. 21.

Fund will close Nov. 11, but will be given all proceeds from a dance to be held in Colwood Community Hall Nov. 18. Donations are accepted at Dickson and Dunn, Glen Lake Hardware, Colwood Fire Hall and Canadian Bank of Commerce, Colwood.

A musical evening is planned for the November meeting of Marigold School PTA in the school auditorium next Tuesday evening.

The school choir and band will put on a performance, together with a group from Mount View High School called "The Roaring Twenties."

Two young men each were fined $20 when they pleaded guilty in city police court to day to being minors in possession of liquor.

They were 20-year-old Herbert Allen Koble, HMCS Naden, who had a case of beer, and Peter Carrillo, 19, of 828 Courtney, who had a 13-ounce bottle of whisky.

A former North Battleford, Sask., teenager sought by police since he disappeared from his sister's home in Saanich Friday was located Tuesday afternoon in Vancouver.

Police were asked to assist in the location of Colin McLean, 14, who was not heard from since Friday midnight.

He was living at the home of Mrs. Harry Schmid, 4905 Townsend, after arriving here recently.

When the 1955 sedan driven by car salesman Edward Bowcott ran out of gas, he wheeled into Tolmie Home Service, 3301 Douglas, Tuesday night.

He got gas and the engine was primed, but a spark touched off gasoline vapors and set fire to the motor compartment, causing $300 estimated damage before Saanich firemen got to the scene.

The car, property of Empress Motors, had to be towed home, finally.

THURSDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Rotary Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. Jack Connolly will present a film called "The Legendary Judge."

Oak Bay Kiwanis: 6:15 p.m., Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Professor C. S. Burchill will discuss "Nationality Problems in the Soviet Union."

Victoria Y's Men's Club: 6:30 p.m., YMCA. Phillip Jeffrey, senior improvements appraiser for Saanich, will be the speaker.

ASK THE TIMES

Deputy Named To City Coroner's Post

Dr. John H. Moore today was appointed Victoria coroner to succeed the late Dr. E. C. Hart.

Dr. Moore, who lives at 2941 Sea View, was Dr. Hart's deputy for many years.

The appointment was made by the cabinet.

Born in Ontario, Dr. Moore moved to Victoria when a child.

He served with the Canadian Medical Corps in the First World War and rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

After the war he returned to Victoria and set up a practice as physician and surgeon. He still is active in practice, which is mostly surgical.

Dr. Moore said he will assume his new duties immediately.

18-Month Term In Ring Case

'Mysterious Stranger' Story Fails to Convince Magistrate

A man who claimed a paper sackful of gold, silver and birthstone rings he tried to sell were bought cheaply and smuggled into Canada was sentenced in city police court today to 18 months in jail for possessing stolen property.

Visiting Cleric Dies at 81

Rev. Joseph Henry Hobbs, St. Methodist and United Church minister who held several charges on Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland, died Tuesday at the Veterans' Hospital after an illness of five weeks.

He was visiting relatives here when first stricken by heart trouble. Another attack Tuesday proved fatal.

Born in Birmingham, he had been in Canada almost 60 years. He preached on Salt Spring Island as a student in 1908, and was at Greenwood immediately prior to the First World War.

After the war he was at Esquimalt, Mission City, Ladysmith, Union Bay, Agassiz, Fort Langley, and Quesnel, his last full charge.

BOWEN ISLAND

He retired 11 years ago, and since then has served at Bowen Island, and as assistant minister at St. Andrew's United Church in Vancouver.

Mr. Hobbs served in both the Boer War and First World War as a fighting man, although in the latter he was qualified to serve as a chaplain.

Surviving are the widow, at home in North Vancouver; four daughters, Mrs. Ron Gadsby and Mrs. K. G. Smith, Victoria; Mrs. Gordon Clay, North Vancouver; and Mrs. Ernest Rice, White Rock; 14 grandchildren, and a sister in Birmingham.

Funeral will be held Friday at 10:15 a.m. at McCall's, and interment will be at Royal Oak. The family has asked that no flowers be sent.

It's Costing More to Keep B.C. Lawful

Court costs of the B.C. Attorney-General's department so far this year are $80,000 more than estimated.

The cabinet has approved a special warrant authorizing payment of $50,000 out of consolidated revenue to meet departmental costs.

On Aug. 9 a similar authorization was obtained for $30,000.

The budget of 1960-61 estimates allowed only $25,000 for the full year's "constitutional litigation and general law costs."

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Roy J. Lewis, 2642 Forbes, $40 for careless driving.

John R. Aasen, 1924 Birch, $40 for careless driving and $25 for failing to submit accident reports.

Artold A. Budynski, 1039 Clark, $25 for violation of driver's licence restriction.

Hilda E. Ashby, 3431 Lovat, $15 for disobeying school patrol flag.

Thomas Henry Bray, 4139 Gillie, $10 for driving with insecure plates.

CIVIC 'FIRST' FOR PEARKES AT CITY HALL

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will set a precedent Nov. 14 when he pays a courtesy call on Mayor Percy Scurrell at City Hall.

Gen. Pearkes will be returning a courtesy call made by the mayor last week.

But it will be the first time in the city's history that a newly-appointed Queen's representative will have done so.

New Forms Due For Changing Drivers' Address

Change of address forms for B.C. motor-vehicle and drivers' licences will be available at the beginning of the new year, a government official said today.

This will avoid a repetition of Tuesday's city police court case when a motorist escaped conviction of failing to notify the motor-vehicles superintendent of his change of address.

The motorist said he had notified the superintendent of his new address for his motor vehicle licence and assumed it was unnecessary to make a separate notice for his driver's licence.

A motor vehicles official said today regulations of the Motor Vehicles Act specify separate notice must be given in writing.

The reason, he said, is that the two types of licence are filed separately, and a car owner with a licence for his vehicle may not have a licence to drive it.

Evidence showed the rings were part of a $3,000 lot including watches and cigarette lighters that were stolen in a jewelry store burglary at Arlington, Wash., in September.

RECORD

Prosecutor T. P. O'Grady read an extensive record and Magistrate Ostler noted Travers had stated he was trying to reform and was in fact on parole.

"You are simply giving lip service to the idea of leading a respectable life," he told Travers, and asked if he had been working.

"I have a job now, your honor," the accused said.

"You may well have a job, but it does not help much when you are not working to carry on like this."

Counsel David Hummel said he had no submission for the court before sentence was imposed.

Stacey Accused Of 'Last Fling'

An inspector of the dairy branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture today was denied permission to enter premises of Milky Way Dairy Ltd., 815 Beckwith.

Henry Robinson, dairy manager, said he barred Peter Regehr because of the latter's actions in the dairy about three weeks ago, when he allegedly interfered with the operation of dairy equipment.

This marks the second time Mr. Regehr has been refused entry into the plant. On Oct. 31 he was not admitted to the plant, and as a result Mr. Robinson has been summoned to appear in Saanich police court Nov. 8 at 2 p.m.

He will be charged under the Milk Act with impeding an inspector.

COURT ORDER

Mr. Regehr arrived at the dairy this morning with three Saanich policemen. When he was refused permission, he was told by the police that he would have to get a court order to enter the premises. At press time he had not returned.

"This is (Agriculture Minister Newton F.) Stacey's last fling before he leaves office," Mr. Robinson said.

Differences between Mr. Robinson and the minister arise out of Mr. Stacey's order of a year ago that the dairy could not sell milk in 64-ounce cartons, or the equivalent of two United States quarts.

Mr. Robinson and his associates in the dairy felt the order was unfair in that they had described their plans to a government official months before Mr. Stacey's order of Oct. 4 or 5, 1959, and had been given permission to go ahead.

IGNORED

Mr. Stacey's 1959 order gave the dairy seven days to stop operations. The dairy ignored it, and Mr. Stacey turned the matter over to the attorney-general's department, but nothing was done.

About three weeks ago Mr. Regehr arrived at the dairy to make a routine inspection.

"For no reason he pulled an electrical plug from a wall outlet and stopped operation of the pump which takes water through the milk to keep it cool between pasteurization and packaging," Mr. Robinson said.

"If we had not acted quickly we would have lost a whole batch of milk."

COMPLAINT

Following the incident he complained to George Patchett, dairy commissioner, and said Mr. Regehr would not be permitted on the premises again.

Mr. Patchett said a dairy had no right to say which inspector would call at the dairy.

Meanwhile the dairy had heard from Mr. Stacey Oct. 11, stating that the dairy had until Oct. 31 to stop packaging milk in 64-ounce cartons.

On Oct. 31 Mr. Regehr arrived at the dairy to see if the minister's order had been carried out, and he was refused permission.

'DISCORD'

John Tisdalle, Saanich M.P.A. who visited Mr. Robinson at the dairy today, said the situation in the agriculture department since Mr. Stacey took office has been "one of discord with the farmers of B.C."

Ramsay Wants Full Report On Arena Spat

Ald. Hugh Ramsay today said he will ask for a full report from the Memorial Arena commission on a series of resignations last month.

Ald. Ramsay is chairman of a city council subcommittee which deals with arena matters—and, as such, he is the alderman responsible for keeping council informed on the subject.

He is expected to ask for a report when city finance committee meets Thursday morning.

'DISTURBED'

"I'm disturbed about the publicity on the resignations and any time that six people quit in a short period of time, I think there should be a full explanation for the reasons."

"I haven't been told anything about this by the commission and the commission chairman hasn't contacted me at all," he said.

Meanwhile, arena manager Joe Dukowski declined to comment on the resignations other than to say explanations given by Mayor Percy Scurrell, commission chairman F. G. Mulliner and city manager C. C. Wyatt "state the position."

All three said the resignations followed a personality clash with Mr. Dukowski.

POPULAR CPR SKIPPER DIES

He Knew the Ways of Steamers In Coastal Coves and Crannies

By MONTE ROBERTS

Forty-five years of "steamboating" on the British Columbia coast ended today with the death in the Royal Jubilee Hospital of Capt. Graham O. "Gay" Hughes, 60.

Since he was a boy of 15, Capt. Hughes had served with the B.C. Coast Service of the CPR—as deckhand, junior officer, mate and master mariner.

One of the friendliest and most popular captains in the CPR's cruise fleet, Capt. Hughes is—ironically—best remembered by the general public for the only ship he lost during his long and honored career—Ss. Princess Kathleen, which went down off Point Lena, Alaska, in September, 1952.

Capt. Hughes was not on watch when the luxury Alaska cruise liner went aground, far off its course, and an enquiry later laid the blame on the first officer.

COMMENDED

As for the captain, he emerged with an official commendation for his "seamanlike" measures looking to the safety of his 300 passengers and crew, and the possibility of saving the ship.

The Kathleen went aground on a falling tide, after several hours slipped off and sank in deep water. But long before, Capt. Hughes had made sure every passenger and each of the 130 crew members was safely ashore. There was not a life lost, nor serious injury.

FAIR AND FOUL

But Capt. Gay Hughes would rather be remembered for the thousands of safe voyages, in fair weather and foul, he carried out on this coast. There wasn't a cove or cranny he hadn't poked a coastwise steamer into, and there was scarcely a steamer in the CPR fleet in which he didn't serve at one time or another.

For many years he and the

Kathleen served on the blue ribbon run of the coast—from Vancouver to Alaska with passengers from all over the world.

Up until his death Capt. Hughes occasionally heard from those passengers, often heard from former crew members who admired, liked and respected him.

Capt. Hughes had been in hospital since last August. Funeral services will be held at McCall Bros. at 3:15 Saturday.

He is survived by the widow, Rhoda, at the family home, 2954 Cedar Hill, and one son, Nelson, in Edmonton.

Novel Coasters Created By Imaginative Housewife

By PENNY SAVER

One enterprising Victoria housewife with an eye for beauty and a will to make a hobby into a profitable venture has found an attractive use for many of the fall leaves, fruits, pollens, hydrangeas and other flowers in her garden and those of her neighbors. Arranging them into colorful designs, she places them between two layers of clear plastic, pinks the edges and, presto!—she produces some of the most glamorous coasters I've seen in a long time! Just the sort of gift to send to an overseas friend or choose to bring a novel note into any home. Circular coasters measure about four inches in diameter and sell at 95 cents for four.

Book markers, too, are being produced by this quick-thinking woman. Like the coasters, trim is encased in mirror-like plastic and includes feathery pampas grass, fall leaves and colorfully designed ribbons that sparkle with sequins. These sell at 25 cents each. Sent with a greeting card, they'll bring a personal touch that friends will remember for a long time to come.

For a friend that loves to sew you can't do better than get her one of the clear plastic cases that have special sections for every kind of sewing aid imaginable.

Circular cases measure about 14 inches in diameter and outside rim is complete with 28 spool holders.

Each holder has its own gadget for cutting thread and avoiding tangles. Never again will the owner have to waste precious minutes with this handy case! Centre of case has a circular section for a pin cushion and is surrounded by five separate partitions in which to hold scissors, tape, thimble, elastic and needles. Cases are well worth the $2.89 price tag.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here's How to Find Your Right Bra Size

Many women want to know how to tell what the correct bra size is for them. The best procedure is to go to the corset department in a store where the salesladies (or at least one of them) have been trained in the art of fitting brassieres. Most stores have highly trained people.

Lowman

However, if this advice is not available to you and you must help with the fitting, here are a few rules to remember. Measure around your torso just underneath the bust. Add five inches to this measurement. The result will be your proper size. For instance, if you measure 25 inches around, you should wear a size 30.

As you know, bra sizes are even—30, 32, 34 and so on. What if you measure 26 inches around? Five added to that gives you size 31. In such an instance you will need the next size larger or a size 32. An alternative is to wear a size 30 but insert some extra elastic at the back fastening.

You will have to decide which is better for you. This will depend on the size of your frame and your bust. If you have a large frame and a small bust, wear the next smaller size and add the elastic.

As you know cups are labeled A, B, C and D. A is for small, B is for medium, C for large and D for extra large. The breasts should fill the cups but not crowd them. In the latter instance the bust will be flattened and the tissues broken down. If the cup is too large for the bust, proper support is not provided. A brassiere should support.

Most brassieres now have separation between the cups. This should coincide with the distance between your breasts.

The fit of your brassiere is extremely important if you wish to preserve your bust line!

Profusion of Flowers in Decor At Taylor-Easton Marriage

White bows decorated doors of St. John's Anglican Church on Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Deborah Mary Easton and James Edgar Taylor. White grape leaves, streamers and wedding bells marked the guest pews. Standard baskets at the front of the church were filled with golden cypress, laurel and large white chrysanthemums.

Canon George Biddle heard the wedding vows. Mrs. Marjorie Sturgeon sang the "Shepherd's Psalm." Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Ross Easton, 3020 Dean Avenue, and the groom is a son of Mrs. Ethel Taylor, 1163, View Street, and the late James Edgar Taylor.

Miss Easton, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church in a white taffeta princess' style gown cut with full flowing train. The bodice had short puffed sleeves of lace and a sweetheart neckline. Head piece was a circlet of tiny white leaves and pearls which held a veil of illusion net applied with lace. A serpentine cascade bouquet of green Phalaenopsis orchids with Rex begonia, emerald ripple philodendron and foliage completed the ensemble.

Miss Jacqueline Nichols was maid of honor and Miss Gail Parker and Miss Heather Hamilton were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of green velvet with full skirts and fitted bodices. Their bouquets were white anthuriums with begonia foliage.

Harold Ridgway was best man and Edward Pomeroy and Jack Taylor acted as ushers.

Following the ceremonies, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor received their guests at a reception in Olde England Inn where William Hamilton proposed the bridal toast. Wedding cake stood on a special table, arranged with flowers and fern.

Leaving for a wedding trip to the mainland, the bride donned a gold-colored dress and brown mohair coat. Her brushed fur hat was toque style and her corsage was an orchid set with bells of Ireland.

Upon their return the young couple will make their home in Victoria.

TODAY'S RECIPE

HARVEST COOKIES

One and one-half cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon baking soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 cup soft shortening, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon water, 1 cup finely diced raw apple, 1 1/2 cups rolled oats, 1/2 cup seedless raisins, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon. Sift dry ingredients into bowl. Add shortening, brown sugar, egg and water. Beat until well mixed. Stir in apple, oats and raisins to make a stiff dough.

Shape into small balls, roll in mixture of cinnamon and sugar. Place well apart on greased baking sheet. Bake in 375° F. oven for 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen.

Luncheon

Fellow staff members of the lands service department of the provincial government honored bride-elect, Miss June Hibbs, at a luncheon in the Net Loft recently. Guest of honor was presented with a gift from those that attended. Guests were Mrs. G. Gaunt, Mrs. I. Burleson, Mrs. A. Fensworth, Mrs. R. Cuppage, Mrs. K. Aller, Mrs. S. Guild, Mrs. B. Kendrick, Mrs. H. Thomas, Mrs. E. Wilson, Mrs. E. Leask, Mrs. C. Smethurst, Mrs. C. Hunter and the Misses Zena Brantley, Margaret McCall, Beverley Thomas, Ruth Davies, Heather Hoole, Joan Carol Roseneau, Louise Bird and Sharon Bird.

Girls Ready to Join; More Leaders Needed

On her first visit to Victoria since appointment as provincial commissioner of the Canadian Girl Guide Association, Mrs. Roy Holmes, Vancouver, has been consulting with leaders and local association members.

Interviewed at a tea in her honor on Tuesday afternoon at the Lansdowne Road home of Mrs. D. J. Lawson, she praised the work of leaders in this area.

"Guiding is very active here," she said, "there are many companies and packs, and the girls are very interested in the work."

Then she added quickly: "We are still in need of leaders, for the movement is growing so rapidly. If we had these leaders, we could bring in many more girls."

During the three years of her office, the provincial commissioner, with help of her two deputies, plans to visit every area where there is a guide company or a Brownie pack in British Columbia. This will include the Cariboo, the far north and the Kootenays. Mrs. Holmes pointed out that the Girl Guide movement, started in Canada 50 years ago, aims to keep in step with developments of the present age.

"We have just completed a Canada-wide survey of program activities to bring them in line with the needs of the modern girl."

"Survey showed that basic principles and fundamental aims and objectives of the movement do not need change," Mrs. Holmes said proudly.

"We were pleased to hear this for these aims and objectives were set for us by Sir Robert Baden-Powell and Lady Powell when they started the boy scout and girl guide movement in 1907—and we are very proud of them."

Provincial commissioner of Canadian Girl Guides' Association, centre, on her first visit to Victoria, met leaders and members of local associations, including Mrs. W. S. Emmerton, left, area commissioner, and Mrs. Hugh Henderson, division commissioner and deputy area commissioner.

DEAR ABBY

Take Yer Choice!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The tradition of stopping the clocks when someone died stems from an old Irish superstition. It was said that if the "devil" could hear a sound in that house, he would return to claim another spirit. They also turned all the mirrors to the wall so they wouldn't get dark and smoky. Then they went out to the beehive (if they had one) and whispered the news of the death to the bees, lest they leave the hive. Don't ask me why they did all this. I just know they did.

FROM IRELAND

DEAR ABBY: According to my grandmother, who is 92, only one clock was stopped in the house when a person died. The reason being that when the coroner came around to write up the death certificate there would be no question as to the exact time of the death. There was no superstition to it. MONICA

DEAR ABBY: The custom of stopping the clocks when a person died originated in Scotland in the 17th century. In those days all clocks were the loud ticking type, and out of respect for the deceased, they kept complete silence.

M. McT.

DEAR ABBY: Stopping the clock at the moment of death is an old Jewish practice. It is symbolic that "time" has run out for that person and, therefore, in his honor, everything "stands still" until he is laid to his eternal rest.

HAD JEWISH NEIGHBORS

DEAR ABBY: Where do people get the idea that stopping the clock when someone dies is an "old superstition"? It is still done today and the reason is a good one. When friends make condolence calls, they don't have to ask, "What time did he pass away?" They can just look at the clock.

"DOC"

DEAR ABBY: When I was a little girl, I recall seeing my mother stop the big grandfather clock that stood in our hallway. I asked her why she was stopping the clock and she told me my brother had died, and there should be no chiming or bells in a house of mourning. She was Hungarian-born, so I imagine this was an old Hungarian custom.

OVER EIGHTY

DEAR ABBY: If you find out why they stopped the clocks when a person died, please print it. And while you are investigating this superstition, also find out why they throw out all the water that happens to be in the vases at the time of death; and why they cover up all the mirrors and pictures.

CURIOUS

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

how to keep your towels soft as the day you bought them!

You know how luxuriously soft a new towel feels. You also know how it becomes after you've had it out on the line drying—stiff, and not at all luxurious. But you can keep your towels always soft and absorbent, with an automatic dryer. You see, an automatic dryer gently tumbles your things, leaving them fluffy, clean and sweet-smelling. Visit your local appliance store for the complete story of economical automatic drying. You'll bless the day you throw the clothesline away.

FREE INSTALLATION!

Until November 15, your new electric or gas clothes dryer will be installed FREE OF CHARGE . . . if your electric or gas service is adequate. SEE YOUR DEALER.

SUSTAINED RELEASE MEDICATION
BRINGS ROUND-THE-CLOCK RELIEF FROM THE SYMPTOMS OF THE COMMON COLD

all day relief—all night relief with just two capsules

1 capsule in the morning

1 capsule at bedtime

EACH ORNAL SUSTAINED RELEASE CAPSULE REMAINS AT AN EFFECTIVE THERAPEUTIC LEVEL FOR 10-12 HOURS!

Modern pharmacology has made ORNAL Sustained Release Medication possible with a new development—the tiny minigran. Each ORNAL SRM capsule contains a multitude of minigrans incorporating an antihistamine, decongestant and drying agent.

When you take an ORNAL, one group of medicated minigrans goes to work right away, much like conventional capsules or tablets. But as the effectiveness of this measured amount begins to diminish, other minigrans take over, releasing booster dosages in your system at measured intervals.

In this way, symptomatic relief from colds is sustained all day long or through the night with just one small ORNAL SRM capsule! Yet, ORNAL costs no more than conventional cold remedies—only $1.35.

REMEMBER—

- ORNAL brings effective, 24-hour relief with just 2 capsules.
- One ORNAL at bedtime relieves pressure, lets you breathe freely all night long!
- One ORNAL in the morning—and you can forget about cold medication for the rest of the day!
- ORNAL's Sustained Release Medication is convenient—allows you to leave your medicine at home, where it belongs!

Discount For Union Protested

VANCOUVER (CP) — An official of the Retail Merchants Association says the association is willing to assist individual firms who may wish to prosecute a store giving a discount to members of a union under the Combines Act.

Duncan M. Scott, assistant manager of the national association, now on loan as secretary-manager to the B.C. branch, said a local of International Woodworkers of America (IWA) abused its power by making a "secret" discount agreement with Nobody's Stores Ltd. in neighboring New Westminster.

Meanwhile, a union spokesman said there was nothing secret nor abusive about the agreement.

PRESENT CARDS
Under the plan members of the union's New Westminster local wishing to buy at discount prices present their union and a special wholesale privilege card.

Mr. Scott said the deal could be a violation of the Combines Act but added that his association plans no legal action.

Rae Eddie, recording secretary of the local and member of the legislature for New Westminster, said the agreement has been in effect for five or six months.

"But there is nothing secret about it," he said. "It was discussed at our local union meetings and it was widely publicized."

He said he believes other unions have similar services. He said letters purporting to show that members were supposed to keep the deal confidential referred only to prices and not the agreement.

Mr. Scott said the agreement is an indication that unions can combine as a buying group and exert their power to buy goods at the expense of other consumers.

CITY BRIEFS

An Assize Court jury was out less than one minute Tuesday after a directed verdict to return a finding of "not guilty" in the trial of Rex Howard, Victoria, charged with carnal knowledge of a female under age 14.

Mr. Justice T. G. Norris told the jury before its verdict to draw it "would be quite unsafe" to bring in a guilty verdict on the basis of Crown evidence, "and I so instruct you."

It was the second day of the trial. The alleged offence had taken place Aug. 18, 1959.

More mooring facilities for pleasure boats in the Inner Harbor is one of the aims of the transportation and harbor group, Victoria Chamber of Commerce in 1961.

It is felt the extension of the present floats is a must as more and more craft are using the harbor. Another aim is for an extension of the plane float for foreign as well as domestic planes as to land, in the harbor.

These aims will be discussed at a meeting of the group in the Glenshiel Hotel next Wednesday at noon.

A civil service Remembrance ceremony will be held Nov. 10 in the rotunda of the legislative buildings.

Relatives of civil servants killed in the two World Wars will attend.

The brief ceremony will be at 4.45 p.m. on the eve of Remembrance Day, Friday, Nov. 11.

Remembrance Day itself will be a holiday for all civil servants.

IT'S NO CHARITY... BUT

Chest Help for City YMCA Makes the Big Difference

By PAT DUFOUR
When is the money you give to the Community Chest not spent on charity?

Answer: When it's part of the YMCA allotment.

If it's not charity, why then should we give?

Answer: Talk to Bob Hutchison, well-known city lawyer, who "grew up" at the "Y" and is now on the board of directors and a voluntary coach.

ENCOURAGEMENT
Says Bob: "The fact that the Victoria YMCA has produced champions in most of the sports fields encourages youngsters of all ages to join the YMCA sports program in thousands. Sure, they pay a fee but certainly not enough to cover costs of the pool and other facilities that are required."

"What we go to the Community Chest for is the difference between running costs and fees received. This way, we can give a service to youngsters in the community that otherwise would only be available to those who could afford high-priced memberships."

In 1959 there were 57 programs available to YMCA members with 3,609 youngsters benefiting from the instruction of Victoria's Archie McKinnon and a dedicated "power house" of volunteers such as Bob Johnstone, Jack Todd, Bruce Humber and many others.

WORLD OVER
Victoria has been represented by YMCA athletes all over the world in British Empire Games and Olympic competition. Such champions as Lynn and "Muzz" Patrick, Peter Salmon, Elaine Silburn, Bill Dale, Bill Parnell, Joan Morgan, Lynn Eves, Bob Wheaton and Terry Tobacco have produced records that have made Victoria a cradle for Canadian sports.

Arguments wax hot that the YMCA should not be concerned with YMCA athletes all over the world in British Empire Games and Olympic competition. Such champions as Lynn and "Muzz" Patrick, Peter Salmon, Elaine Silburn, Bill Dale, Bill Parnell, Joan Morgan, Lynn Eves, Bob Wheaton and Terry Tobacco have produced records that have made Victoria a cradle for Canadian sports.

Some thank the YMCA for a job well done with a shy youngster, others attribute a poor student's graduation to academic achievement to YMCA influence. Others are from men who, on reaching maturity, are strongly aware of the part the YMCA played in forming their character.

MISS THE Y
One from Ted Reynolds, well-known sports commentator, is an example.

Written when Ted left the city to work with CBC in Vancouver, it reads: "Ned (my oldest), when asked what he would miss most in Victoria, announced that it would be the Y!"

'LADY CHATTERLEY'S LOVER'
Much-Discussed Book Cleared in Britain

LONDON (AP) — A jury of nine men and three women today returned a verdict that the uncensored version of D. H. Lawrence's "Lady Chatterley's Lover" is not obscene, and thus gave the green light to its publication in Britain.

The jury's decision cleared Penguin Books Ltd., of Scotland Yard's charge that, in printing the unexpurgated copy of the dead author's work, they violated Britain's Obscene Publications Act.

Summing up after a trial that began 13 days ago, Justice Sir Laurence Byrne told the nine men and three women jurors:

"You have to decide whether the book is justified as being for the public good."

Last year Britain passed a new obscenity law. Under it expert witnesses can be called to say whether a book, though containing four-letter words and frank sex passages — is literature worthy of publication.

WRITTEN IN 1927
Lawrence's controversial novel was written in 1927 but never published in his homeland. Last summer, after the U.S. Supreme Court approved its publication in America, Penguin Books brought out a paperback edition in Britain as a test. The firm was charged with violation of the obscenity law, and distribution of the book was withheld until the case was decided.

Before the appearance of witnesses, the jury read the book while locked in the jury room.

For three days, the defence produced a long list of prominent educators, churchmen, authors and socialists.

All claimed the book was literature and defended the author's passages of love and his frequent use of four-letter words.

CONSTITUTION CONFERENCE RESUMES

Provincial Proposals Precent Big Problem

By JAMES NELSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — The Dominion provincial constitution conference today assigned the task of sorting out provincial proposals for safeguarding basic rights in the constitution to a committee of legal experts.

Justice Minister Fulton, chairman of the conference of provincial attorneys-general which reconvened today, said the committee would try to find common ground in conflicting suggestions made by the provinces as to what provisions of the constitution should be entrenched or made unamendable by any amendment.

When the conference adjourned for lunch, Mr. Fulton said that if the committee could agree on what clauses should be entrenched, it would, in effect, have evolved a formula for handling constitutional amendments in Canada. Meanwhile, he said, the main conference is wrestling with the legalistic problem of how to transfer the British North America Act from the United Kingdom Parliament to Canada.

The committee of federal and provincial legal draughtsmen is to meet concurrently with the main conference, Mr. Fulton said.

Some provincial delegates saw the move as coming close to the tangle in which previous constitutional reform conferences have broken down. There is a danger, they said, in becoming so bogged down in detail that the broad principle of the need for constitutional reform is lost.

BONNER OBJECTS
This was reflected in a statement by Attorney-General Bonner of British Columbia when the conference recessed its morning meeting for a coffee break.

"I disagree with those who want to have an examination of which provisions should or should not be entrenched."

"The matter of amendment is one to be decided in broad principles, reflecting certain realities that are observable in the country today."

Mr. Bonner took the line that the conference should deal only in the broad principles on which the Canadian constitution should be based, and leave it to legal draughtsmen to put it down on paper, rather than become involved in detailed provisions now.

J. J. Frawley, counsel for the Alberta government, is one of the members of the new committee. He said no firm progress on details could be made until the committee reports back to the main conference, perhaps later today.

The proposals aired at the general meeting behind closed doors were both tentative and technical, Mr. Frawley said.

Man Admits Stealing Two Pistols
Peter Lawson, 23, of Vancouver, pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Tuesday to his second charge of pistol theft in a week.

The former employee of a Victoria moving firm was remanded to Thursday for probation report and sentence on the Saanich charge, and also on an earlier city charge for a similar offence at about the same time.

Police said Larsen reported on Oct. 19 that his car had been stolen from Victoria. The following day it was recovered at Qualicum Beach, containing a British Bulldog revolver property of Dean F. Smith, 1275 Tattersall and valued at $15.

HELPING MOVE
The gun was taken by Larsen when he helped move Smith's belongings from a Broadway address, court was told.

Also in the car when it was located at Qualicum was a British Bulldog revolver owned by Ray Griffiths, also worth about $15 and taken from 349 Empress, police said earlier in city police court.

FEDERAL MONEY ASSURED

Work Planned At Long Beach

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood today received a telegram from Ottawa offering winter grants for park development, and he said B.C. plans several projects.

Long Beach campsite on the Island's west coast are among the plans, he said.

Federal government aid of up to 50 per cent of camp and picnic sites developed during the winter months totalled about $300,000 last year, said Mr. Westwood.

He said his department has already sent a mapping crew to Long Beach.

"We want to spread the work around the province as much as possible," he said.

Other areas where winter projects are planned include Monk Park near Merritt, Alice Lake near Squamish and the Okanagan.

Mr. Westwood said the department is also seeking a campsite at Butte Lake, where property is owned by a timber firm, and at Forbidden Plateau.

Mr. Westwood said he is "a little disappointed" this season's federal aid will be cut off April 30. He said it ran to May 31 this year.

"But we are very pleased to get the telegram," he said. "It will enable us to work where weather permits and where we might not have been able to go ahead yet. It will also assist in giving employment."

DUNCAN—Antonius Van Aert, 21, Herd Road, was sentenced to nine months in jail when he appeared on remand in Duncan court Tuesday, having previously pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the home of Archie Stevenson, Fairbridge.

Van Aert had also admitted two charges of stealing money and was sentenced to nine months on each of these charges, to run concurrently.

Van Aert was "caught in the act" by Mr. Stevenson, who had concealed himself in a darkened room of his home each night for a week. Sums of money totalling $84 had gone missing from his home over a period of weeks, always during milking time.

DUNCAN—Magnus Martin, Duncan, pleaded guilty in city police court to operating a light logging trailer without having a proper licence.

He told court the trailer had not been on the road all summer and he had "just fixed it up."

Martin was fined $10 and told by Magistrate A. C. Sutton: "You're inclined to be careless. You keep coming here on silly things."

DUNCAN—Twenty years of service to his community through Rotary has earned Duncan Rotarian Reg Goodings a "pioneer" award.

Two new members welcomed by the Rotary Club this week were Rev. Lee Gillard of Shawigan Lake, and Jack Meredith-Jones. Membership objective is now 60, president Bert Gray announced.

ISLAND DIGEST

28 Victoria Daily Times
WED., NOV. 2, 1960

LUMBERING HUMMING

6% Decrease In Jobless

Employment in the Cowichan district, steadied by a lumber industry maintaining full production, remains at a high level according to the monthly report of the National Employment Service office in Duncan.

There was a six per cent decrease in the number of male job seekers during the period, down to 385 from 410 the previous month. Number of unemployed female workers was also down from the previous month at 151, compared to 167 in September.

Highlights of the monthly summary of conditions were:

Production in the logging industry has been maintained at a high level and is expected to continue well into the winter months unless adverse weather conditions prevail.

Construction picture looks brighter with the first unit of the new Queen Margaret's School under way.

A new telephone building also is slated for early construction.

The old Post Office building is being remodelled at a cost of $15,000, and tenders are expected to be called within the next few weeks on a second junior high school to cost $264,000.

THANKS TO DOCTOR, NURSE, PILOT, BUS DRIVER, LOGGERS

Mother, Daughter Doing Fine—But Whew!

CAMPBELL RIVER — A mother and daughter returned home after a Klon dike Night party at Gold River, a doctor, pilot, bus driver and assorted loggers fought and won a valiant battle against death in this district over the weekend.

The result: Mrs. Violet Johnson, 27, and her infant daughter, of Gold River, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, are in good condition in Campbell River General Hospital.

AT BIRTH

The saga started late Saturday night when complications arose as Mrs. Johnson started to give birth to her child. She was in a camp some distance from Gold River, but was brought to the larger centre by boat.

Meanwhile, two Campbell River nurses, who were about

Harry Ewart Plaque Gets Approval

NORTH COWICHAN

A proposal by Chemainus Rotary Club to erect a plaque at Chemainus Park honoring the leadership of community worker Harry N. Ewart was approved by municipal council subject to certain re-wording of the proposed inscription.

Mr. Ewart was chairman of the Chemainus Centennial Committee and later, with funds left over from the celebrations, organized the development of the new park at Fuller's Lake.

Both Coun. Gerry Smith of Chemainus and Reece D. C. Morton felt that the plaque inscription should pay tribute to the many volunteer groups which assisted with the park project, particularly longshoremen and the IWA.

gave birth to a daughter shortly after her arrival.

BLOOD NEEDED

The nurses Jessie Boot and Eileen Milne decided that Mrs. Johnson needed blood transfusions and hospital care.

In answer to their call for help, Gordon Wilkinson, of B.C. Airlines, took off from Campbell River at daylight Sunday with a doctor nurse and transfusion equipment. Fog, however, blocked the plane in the Elk River Valley, and it was forced to land on Upper Campbell Lake.

LADY LUCK

A bus bound for Gold River happened along the road beside the lake, and stopped for the medical party. The driver then headed for camp at top speed and did not stop until he reached the first aid hut where Mrs. Johnson was being treated.

The young mother was given an immediate transfusion, then was sent by truck to Campbell River.

She rode on a stretcher which was cushioned on inflated inner tubes, and as the truck raced over the gravel road, further transfusions of whole blood were made. Donors were three loggers at the camp.

Mrs. Johnson arrived at the hospital 21 hours after her ordeal started. She was given further treatment in the hospital operating room, but the infant girl, who had slept most of the way from Gold River, was pronounced in good health on arrival.

CAIRN HONORS MEMORY OF MOUNTAIN VICTIM

DUNCAN—Members of the Alpine Club and Island Mountain Ramblers have placed a memorial cairn on Comox Glacier in memory of one of their companions who died on a climb in the area last year.

The cairn was erected in memory of Harry Winstone, Crofton pulp mill engineer and avid mountaineer, who died on the slopes of Mt. Argus, July 12, 1959.

Sid Watts of Duncan led the party which packed the rock cairn up the glacier. It was erected at the 6,500-foot level adjacent to the approach to Mt. Argus.

Inscription on the bronze plaque reads: "Erected to the memory of Harry Winstone, who died on Mt. Argus, July 12, 1959, by his climbing companions."

Alberni Man Elected by Dairymen

LADYSMITH—Ted Thomson, Alberni, and Edgar Smith, Comox, were re-elected president and vice-president respectively at the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association here.

Directors elected by areas were R. Godfrey, W. Taylor and J. Pendray, Victoria; G. Braithwaite, A. Stevenson and J. Fall, Duncan; C. T. Bulman and J. McCallum, Cedar; G. Denslow and B. Negrin, Comox; Mr. Thomson and A. McKinnon, Alberni; Mr. Smith and T. Berry, Courtenay.

John Hulbert, Koksilah, elected treasurer for a third term, automatically became an additional director. Reg Purdy, Nanaimo, was appointed secretary-manager. Membership in the association is 186.

A special guest at the meeting was Clara Taylor, Saanich-up trucks stop at public weigh scales, legislation whereby profits of family farm firms would be exempt from income tax before such profits were distributed to family shareholders, an inquiry into the incidence of mastitis in cattle with a policy of supervision and treatment, a plan whereby farmers could take part in a Medical Services Association plan, and removal of the regulation making empty pick-sastrin test for milk.

1,000 DIE AS CYCLONE RIPS EAST PAKISTAN

DECCA, East Pakistan (UPI)—A cyclone and tidal wave that lashed the East Pakistan port town of Chittagong and the surrounding coastal area Monday took at least 1,000 lives, an eye-witness said today.

Canada Arms Plan Vetoed By Soviet Delegate at UN

'It's No Good' Reporters Told

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The Soviet Union threw cold water today on Canadian efforts to produce a compromise decision on disarmament in the UN General Assembly.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin said of a Canadian resolution for this purpose, "It's no good." He told reporters the resolution created the illusion that there was a basis for agreement when there actually was none. But he said his delegation did not yet have the Soviet government's reaction to a tentative resolution that India and others have drafted to bring about a compromise.

An authoritative source said the U.S. delegation did not have Washington's reaction to the Indian draft, either. The document was given to both delegations Sunday.

Delegates said India's document, prepared in collaboration with five or six other nations, laid down directives to be followed in drawing up a treaty for general and complete disarmament.

RIVAL RESOLUTIONS

A pending Soviet resolution sets forth the same objective. A rival American-British-Italian resolution on disarmament seeks only "measures leading toward the goal of general and complete disarmament," without mentioning any treaty.

The Canadian resolution was outlined by External Affairs Minister Howard Green Tuesday, Norway and Sweden are co-sponsors.

Instead of laying down directives for the disarmament negotiators, the resolution asks the 99-nation UN disarmament commission to set up a special committee of perhaps 10 or 12 non-nuclear countries to help get negotiations going again.

The last disarmament talks ended last June 27 when five Communist countries walked out on a 10-nation committee meeting in Geneva.

Anti-Catholic Tracts Flood New York State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Residents in all corners of New York State are receiving anti-Catholic literature.

The literature has been denounced by Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic leaders.

Pamphlets and handbills were being received by residents in Albany, Utica, Plattsburgh, Saranac Lake, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Middletown and Buffalo.

Some of the literature came from anonymous senders. The titles include: If the United States becomes 51 per cent Catholic, and Washington under the sway of Romanism.

Senator John Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, repeatedly has gone on record for church-state separation. Kennedy is a Roman Catholic.

UN TROOPS DISPERSE CONGO MOB

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—Ghananian United Nations troops today were called out to help disperse a demonstration by hundreds of striking Congolese transport workers. No one was hurt in the demonstration but several windows in the transport company's headquarters were broken.

The strike was touched off by a demand for pay increases.

U.K. Seeks To Quell SubDispute

LONDON (CP) — Britain today sought to avert an Anglo-American argument over the control of missiles carried by American Polaris submarines to be based at Holy Loch, Scotland.

Prime Minister Macmillan announced in the House of Commons Tuesday that the United States would not use the missiles without "the fullest possible previous consultation."

Surprised U.S. officials said in Washington the United States had made no direct commitment about fullest previous consultation with Britain.

The Earl of Home, Britain's foreign minister, told the House of Lords today it appeared from press reports that Macmillan's words had been misinterpreted.

In reply to questions, Home declared: "It is quite clear from the prime minister's statement that although he is sure there would be consultation wherever possible, it could not necessarily be guaranteed in the case of an emergency."

SAYS TEXT CLEAR

The foreign secretary expressed confidence that if there is any misunderstanding in Washington, it will be cleared up by a full reading of the text of Macmillan's statement.

He said Macmillan had pointed out it was not possible to make a Polaris agreement to match the one on U.S. air bases in Britain. The air base agreement calls for full consultation between the two governments before the use of nuclear weapons.

Meantime, 32 Labor MPs announced their opposition to the Polaris agreement. They submitted a motion, warning against the "grave dangers" of such a base over which the British government could have no adequate control. (See page 3.)

PRAYER FOR TODAY

We lift up the work of our hands unto Thee, Father, that this work might be blessed of Thee and be a blessing to Thy people everywhere. Help us to know the joy of serving Thee and our brothers. Help us to see that all we do is a sacrament of love performed in Thy name and for Thy glory. Free us from useless care and meaningless labor. Fill our hearts with love for work that is a service to Thee. In the Master's name we ask it. Amen.

TICKER TAPE WELCOME FOR NIXON, IKE

NEW YORK (AP)—Streamers flew from windows, confetti was tossed on the crowd and tug whistles blasted in Manhattan today as President Eisenhower joined the campaign of Vice President Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Spectators, packed behind police lines, cheered and some women blew kisses as the president and Nixon arrived at Herald Square, sitting on the back of a convertible. At one point the confetti and tape were so thick it looked as though twilight had arrived early. Eisenhower, Nixon and Lodge arrived in Manhattan by helicopter after appearances in the suburbs.

At a shopping centre in Nassau County on Long Island, Eisenhower said Nixon and Lodge, the Republican presidential and vice-presidential nominees respectively, offer the U.S. "the finest type of leadership that is available today to the nation."

CHEST DRIVE TO FALL SHORT BY $80,000

Pessimistic officials of the Community Chest today predicted that the 1960 Red Feather drive may fall short of its $350,000 goal by $80,000.

A special meeting of canvassers and key workers was called this afternoon and it was expected an extension of the campaign would be sanctioned. With the deadline for returns set for Friday only $178,000 has been collected.

"I am extremely disappointed with the progress so far," campaign chairman Bernard Van Aggelen stated.

"If people want to have a Community Chest then it is absolutely essential that they contribute towards it on a fair share basis."

POOLS WINNER DISQUALIFIED

Too Young for Fortune

LONDON (AP)—An 18-year-old German girl who came to England 12 weeks ago had $45,856 ($128,396) slip from her fingers. Diepold Ute, who works as a maid, thought she had won the money betting in a soccer pool. An official of the pools firm called on her to hand her the cheque.

Under 21 he told her she couldn't have the money. Under British law, no one under 21 is allowed to bet on the pools. "What can I do?" asked Miss Ute today in tears. "In Germany, my parents would have been given the money in trust for me. It was the first time I had ever filled in a coupon, and it came out right. And now this."

A pools official said that Miss Ute's prize money was added to the funds earmarked for other first-prize winners. A fixed percentage of the pools' income is set aside each week to be paid out as prizes.

"We gave Miss Ute her two shillings six pence back, the official added.

Savage Storm Lashes Britain

LONDON (CP)—Fierce gales howled across the British Isles today, leaving a trail of torn roofs and toppled trees over areas already hit by floods.

Ships scurried for shelter from mountainous waves. One ship, the 6,539-ton Wellpark, was forced aground near Liverpool and lifeboats were sent to two other vessels in distress.

Waves 40 feet high crashed over some roads around the coast. In southern England, highways already badly flooded were further blocked by falling trees.

At Belfast, 24 girls ran screaming from the top floor of a five-storey warehouse when the roof was plucked off in the wind. No one was injured.

TRAVEL HAMPERED

Ship sailings were delayed in ports all around the country. Air and rail traffic was also disrupted.

The gales brought fresh threats of flooding to widespread areas of Britain which were only beginning to dig themselves out of mud and debris.

The worst storm in memory struck the northwest coast resort of Blackpool. Roofs were blown off, windows shattered and the town's telephone system cut off.

Off the east coast, herring fleets caught in 80-mile winds, struggled through mountainous waves to harbor after an all-night battering.

In Manchester, gales blew in big department store windows and knocked down billboards. The Thames River continued to rise. Workers frantically placed sandbags along the Thames banks at Windsor to protect the main street from flooding.

Hundreds of acres of the royal park outside Windsor Castle were flooded.

Mauled to Death

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Informed sources reported Ambassador Rajeshwar Dayal, special United Nations representative here, planned to leave by plane for New York tonight to consult with secretary-general Dag Hammarskjöld on the complex Congo situation.

Viet Nam Fighting

SAIGON (Reuters)—Heavy fighting has been going on in the highlands region of central Viet Nam since Oct. 21 between a South Viet Nam army of two regiments and Communist Vietminh guerrillas, authoritative government sources said today.

IKE IN THE FRAY

Bitter Charges By Candidates

By United Press International
President Eisenhower today starred in a razzle-dazzle Republican campaign spectacular designed to swing New York—and the nation—behind GOP White House nominee Richard M. Nixon.

Democratic candidate John F. Kennedy stumped through Los Angeles, San Diego, San Jose and San Francisco in his second and final day of campaigning for the 32 electoral votes of Nixon's native California.

The presidential rivals traded increasingly blunt charges. Nixon branded the Massachusetts senator a "bare-faced liar on social security. Kennedy termed as "detestable" a GOP statement on defence contracts.

In a whirlwind 12-hour bid for New York's 45 electoral votes—biggest single bloc in the nation—Eisenhower appeared side-by-side with Nixon at several rallies in suburbs of New York City and a ticker-tape parade up Broadway. A nationally televised evening rally was set in Manhattan.

Former President Harry S. Truman, campaigning for Kennedy in New York suburbs, also needed Nixon.

"The Republicans have now sent out an emergency call for help," Truman said. "They are asking Ike to try to rescue Nixon."

Kennedy accused the Eisenhower administration of releasing an additional $155 million for development of the B70 super-bomber "to increase Republican votes."

In a statement issued in Los Angeles, Kennedy said the administration's decision a week before election day to release the funds made available some time ago by the Democratic Congress was a "transparent political manoeuvre" rather than an effort to increase national defenses.

Nixon charged that Kennedy proposals added up to "one of the cruelest and most vicious 'soak the poor' programs ever advocated by any presidential candidate."

"It is the millions of people in the lower income brackets—not the wealthy—who would really pay the bill for my opponent's platform if he tried to finance it by new taxes," Nixon said in a speech prepared for a Republican breakfast meeting in Brooklyn.

This was a continuation of the vice-president's emphasis on the "pocket book issue" in speeches Tuesday in Pennsylvania and upstate New York.

He said that if Kennedy were elected, the public could look for higher taxes and prices.

Well, I guess it's better fer 'em t' be pickin' holes in disarmament plans than blowin' holes in us.

UNEMPLOYED 'NO. 1 TOPIC' FOR SESSION

VANCOUVER (CP)—CCF leader Robert Strachan forecast here today that unemployment will be the main issue of the next session of the B.C. legislature.

"Unemployment will be at its worst when the session starts and there are no proposals from the government to help," said Mr. Strachan.

A normal session starting date of early January was suggested Monday by Premier Bennett.

Mr. Strachan said Ottawa was asked by the premier to tend to unemployment.

"But he can't expect Ottawa to accept his suggestion for a joint public works program when he hasn't shown good faith."

Mr. Strachan said the Social Credit government has underspent the 1959-60 provincial works program by $24,000,000.

Meanwhile, Liberal leader Ray Perrault said he feels much of the legislature debates will be on hydro power.

MARTYR AMONG HIS JAPANESE FOLLOWERS?

Student Assassin Suicides

TOKYO (UPI)—Otoya Yamaguchi, remorseless student assassin of socialist leader Inejiro Asanuma, eluded the watch of reformatory guards by a "tame" lion on a game reserve near Arusha. In north-eastern Tanganyika.

A guard reported nothing amiss at 8 p.m. when he inspected the cell of the 17-year-old ultra-nationalist who plunged a knife into Asanuma at a political rally Oct. 12.

Thirty minutes later another guard visited the cell and found Yamaguchi unconscious. His body hung suspended by strips of sheet from a light fixture. The strips apparently had been torn from his bedding.

Yamaguchi had been in solitary confinement. Observers said the suicide may make Yamaguchi a martyr among ultra-nationalists in Japan.

The youth had been transferred from Tokyo metropolitan police headquarters to the boys' reformatory only Wednesday, police said. The switch was made after the Tokyo prosecutor recommended that the criminal courts handle his case.

Yamaguchi faced a possible death penalty.

VANCOUVER—A coin-operated pub? Possible says Walter Gibb, manager of a company which has obtained manufacturing rights to a machine that will take the human element out of drawing beer.

He said at the annual meeting of the B.C. Hotel's Association here:

"This machine will pour exactly 9½ ounces into a 20-cent glass every time and settle the beer and keep it at the right temperature and pressure as well. All you do is trip the switch."

He said the dispenser is the answer to charges made at last week's annual convention of the B.C. Federation of Labor CLC that beer parlor operators deny customers full measure.

William Wainwright, president of the Hotels Association Vancouver branch, did not like the vision of the machine replacing bartenders and waiters. "I don't want hotels to become assembly-line factories where hospitality is replaced by production quotas."

SPARTANBURG, S.C.—When J. A. Wilson arrived to open his tractor and feed business here Tuesday, he found 3,500 gallons of molasses covering the entire company lot. Halloween pranksters Tuesday night opened the valves of a 4,000-gallon molasses tank in the front yard of the firm.

LANGLEY, England—Two-year-old George Ferguson sleepwalked down the rain-swept streets early Tuesday clad in a woollen jacket and pyjamas. A passerby saw him.

Integration Advances

DETROIT (AP)—Three northwest Detroit elementary schools were integrated Monday despite protests of white parents. Only a handful of angry shouting pickets greeted seven busloads of 300 Negro students being transferred from two overcrowded schools.

HIT BY CAR

Injured Boy Crawls Painfully to Curb

Eleven-year-old North Ward School pupil, Larry Shaw, is in good condition with head injuries following collision with a car at an intersection just vacated by a school safety patrol at 3:14 p.m. Tuesday.

The boy, who lives at 365 Bay, said he crawled to the edge of the sidewalk at Douglas and Kings after the impact so he would delay traffic.

He was on his way home from school at the time.

Two others are in hospital with head injuries after the cars they were driving were in collision at West Saanich and Pipe Line Road at 4 p.m.

Edwin James, 18, of Duncan, is "satisfactory" at Jubilee Hospital, and Mrs. Ethel Allan Vincent, 4786 Spring, is in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

BEER-LOVING BRITONS LAP UP SPEECH

LONDON (CP)—The speech from the throne opening a new session of Parliament Tuesday promised Britons more beer-drinking time.

The speech said the government plans "to reform licensing laws."

To Britons accustomed to being herded out of their pubs long before midnight, this promise constituted the program's best news.

Home Secretary R. H. Butler now intends to increase the drinking hours and bring uniformity into the regulations.

GUILTY PLEA

Police Catch Fleeing Joy-Riders

One of four young people including two teen-aged girls pursued late Monday by a motorcycle policeman for two blocks before they jumped out of a school teacher's car and ran, pleaded guilty in city police court Tuesday to car theft.

David Yardley, 19, no fixed address, was remanded to Monday for a probation and sentence. The others were to be dealt with by juvenile authorities.

A car owned by Donald Berringer, 785 Cowper, was stolen from Victoria High School and spotted in the Gorge area by motorcycle Const. A. V. Harwood, who gave chase.

When four youngsters, including a boy and girl aged 17, and another girl aged 14, jumped from the car and ran, police reinforcements cornered two behind Windsor Motor Court, 260 Gorge.

Freeborn Heads Horticulturists For Fourth Time

C. J. Freeborn, 3701 Savannah, was re-elected for the fourth time as president of the Victoria Horticultural Society at an annual meeting held at the City Hall Tuesday.

Also re-elected were Mrs. Ena McCabe, vice-president, and Maj. G. A. Wiggan, secretary-treasurer.

Members elected to the executive committee to serve for a two-year term were: Miss Doris Page, Mrs. R. S. Bevan, W. J. Roper, F. George and Geoffrey Hollyhead.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Upswing Continues At Toronto, New York

Prices continued to advance today on both the Toronto and New York stock markets. Trading was light to moderate. Foreign bonds were dull but Canadian Pacific was firm in rails. Gold shares were firm; copper shares were dull and there was a good recovery in tin shares. Oils were quiet but selectively better. Union Carbide resumed its snail pace at New York with a rise of three points. Steels, rails, chemicals and tobacco were among the better gainers.

AT TORONTO: Hollinger and Kerr-Addison both gained 1/2 at 20% and 14 1/2 to keep the gold index on the up side, while Cominco-Heppes the base metals index to the down side with a drop of 1/4 at 18 1/4. Senior uranium was unaffected. Western oils retained their strength, led by Pacific Petroleum with a 30-cent gain at $9.95. Canadian Devonian, up 10 cents at $4.50, hit a new high for the year following takeover rumors.

AT NEW YORK: On the Canadian list Dome Mines and Canadian Pacific each added 1/2 and McIntyre Porcupine 1/4. On a higher American exchange, Preston East Dome and Seury Rainbow oil gained 1/2 each.

AT MONTREAL: Lower prices prevailed on the stock exchange today. Trade was light. AT LONDON: A slightly better atmosphere on the stock market today was helped by the overnight rally by Wall Street, but buying remained selective. Gains predominated in iron.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Construction activity in British Columbia during September topped year-ago levels, but operations during the first nine months lagged considerably behind the rate during the similar period. Construction in Greater Vancouver followed the provincial trend, a Journal of Commerce survey showed. Construction in B.C. during the nine-month period totalled $125,483,186 compared with $184,655,548 a year ago. Building permits issued in September for B.C. totalled $17,605,490 compared with $14,257,096 for the same month last year.

JURY OUT FOR 13 DAYS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thirteen days after they took the case, one man and 11 women are still pondering the fate of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his sweetheart, Carole Tregoff.

The judge presiding at their second trial on murder charges Tuesday refused a defence plea that the jurors be dismissed as unable to agree. The first trial ended that way—after 41 weeks of testimony and seven days of deliberation.

PRECEDENT FEARED

Committee Upset By Free Pencils

Greater Victoria Inter-municipal committee Tuesday asked Greater Victoria School Board to "discontinue" the practice of supplying free pencils and exercise books for Grade I pupils.

Committee members said they felt the school trustees' action set a precedent which makes it possible later to provide more free supplies to other grades.

School board chairman W. C. Gelling told the committee that the program cost $671, "about 25 cents per pupil per year," and was paid for entirely by the provincial department of education.

He said it was instituted to ensure standardization of writing materials in the first grade when pupils begin learning to write so that all have an equal start. The present board had no intention of extending the program to other grades.

Juvenile detention home committee and Oak Bay delegates urged construction of a new detention home to provide segregated and maximum security quarters for "toughs" but the committee voted to await more information about the effect of the new joint Family and Juvenile Court.

Saanich Reeve George Chatterton said proponents of the court had said it would reduce the need for a detention home—where juveniles are held before trial—and he felt the court should be given some time to show whether this was true or not.

Several delegates contended that lowering of the juvenile age limit from 18 years to 16 would eliminate most of the need for a security-type of detention home.

The committee turned down a motion that the attorney-general be approached again.

Esquimalt Man Jailed for Year

TORONTO (CP)—Nelson M. Hickson, 39, of Esquimalt, B.C., former member of the Canadian Army, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a five-year-old theft of $10,000 from a former employer and was sentenced to 12 months in reformatory.

Hickson was arrested last month when he arrived by plane at Trenton, Ont., from Germany where he had been serving for three years with the army. The thefts took place in 1955 and 1956 while Hickson was an employee of Radio Electronic Schools.

regarding the age limit but later Esquimalt council agreed to make the request itself.

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele also argued that police should be given authority to decide whether or not juveniles would be held in jail pending trial. This is prohibited under present legislation.

"It shocks me that anyone would want to make this into a police state," replied Oak Bay Coun. Allan Cox. "The legislature sure didn't want that and neither do the police."

Committee recommended the four councils appoint city solicitor T. P. O'Grady to represent the area at a Public Utilities Commission hearing Nov. 16 in Vancouver dealing with B.C. Electric profit rates.

A $45,000 grant from the four municipalities to help with construction of a 15-bed psychiatric ward at Royal Jubilee Hospital was recommended to the four councils.

No action was taken on a Capital Region Planning Board report that $10,000 would be required for engineering studies for redevelopment of Gorge waterway.

NEW QUAKE HIT CHILE

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—A series of three earthquakes sent thousands of men, women and children rushing in panic into the streets and countryside of southern Chile Tuesday. The area was ravaged by destructive quakes last May. Damaged walls crumbled and cracks opened up in some roads, but there were no early reports of severe destruction or casualties.

How to recognize the new VW

First of all, there's 10% more power to play with. Now the Volkswagen leaps away from lights! Increased torque means more reserve power in every gear for safer passing. And although the engine is stepped-up to 40 horse power, it's still as easy on the gas as ever.

Then there's the synchronized first gear. You no longer have to slip the car to change down to first. From second gear, you can shift down smartly into first—and whip away. And all the gear ratios have been changed to take advantage of the new engine performance.

The luggage space is bigger. There's now ten cubic feet. A full 5 up front and another 5 behind the back seat. Now you can stand all your shopping bags upright under the hood. Or take a family vacation with all your luggage neatly packed away.

The VW is constantly being improved. Unless you drive the new Volkswagen (or know what to look for) you can't tell it from last year's model. Or the one before that. Or the one before that. In fact, since 1948 no less than nine hundred improvements have been made to this remarkable car yet it still remains basically the same. That's why the VW retains its value. It is Volkswagen's philosophy not to change for the sake of change but to search continually for new ways to improve a great idea. Here are some more improvements in the new VW:

Automatic choke: Gone is the old manual choke. The engine idling speed is now regulated for you by an automatic choke. This prevents the Volkswagen from stalling and guarantees the correct fuel/air mixture under all conditions.

Better steering: A hydraulic damper takes the road shocks instead of the steering wheel. You keep a steady hand when the Volkswagen hits a bump.

No more carburetor icing: The new VW can't ice up. A stream of warm air from the engine is directed into the carburetor itself. Even in the coldest weather, Volkswagen's engine thinks it's summer.

Interesting new colours: The new Volkswagen looks a lot prettier. There are six brand new colours to choose from; not counting black. The interiors are freshly-styled with coloured covering on the floor. And there's even a coloured steering wheel too.

Windshield washer is standard: Now the windshield washer comes with the new Volkswagen. So does a larger door pocket, front-passenger hand grip, twin padded sun visors and many other features.

Some of these improvements in the De Luxe Volkswagen are also in the Custom model. Whichever you buy, we think you get the best car value in the world.

There's so much to say about the new Volkswagen, why not get it first hand at your Volkswagen dealer's tonight!

EAST INDIAN HONORED IN LIBRARY PRESENTATION

MONTE ROBERTS

Many and varied things greet many and varied people of a Monday morning. But I don't suppose many people were greeted, as I was last Monday morning, with this cryptic note: EMPTY VACUUM. Empty vacuum. Now, there is a thought for the day. How empty can a vacuum get? If a vacuum isn't empty, how can it be a vacuum? And even in my high school days I ain't never been to college I was told, and I was told and I was told, there is no such thing as a vacuum.

So if there is no such thing as a vacuum, because a vacuum to be a vacuum has to be empty and nobody has yet been able to empty a vacuum and thus produce a perfect vacuum, why was I greeted, last Monday, with a note saying: EMPTY VACUUM. I puzzled over this for a considerable time, last Monday. Fortunately, I had considerable time to puzzle over this Monday being my official day to not work. (I have other days to not work, but they are not official, so let's not tell EVERYBODY about it, eh?) EMPTY VACUUM. I recognized the handwriting on this cryptic note, having seen the handwriting of My Favorite Wife on previous occasions. Most of the previous occasions were Mondays—my day to not work, remember?—because MFW likes to leave a list of work for me to do on my days to not work. But, EMPTY VACUUM? Was she asking me to develop a new Einstein theory —0 minus 0 minus 0 times 0 divided by 0 equals 000?—I asked myself as I poured myself a second cup of tea. No, I thought to myself as I stretched out on the sofa, the better to concentrate. My Favorite Wife has something more constructive in mind. I could hardly sleep at all, what with worrying about EMPTY VACUUM. Until MFW came home, and I could ask her what she meant by this cryptic note. "Empty," she said, "is a verb-type word. "Oh," I said, "you mean, I was supposed to do something, like?" "Vacuum," she said, "like between your ears."

I still maintain there is no such thing as an empty vacuum, even on my day to not work.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

More than $600 has been subscribed to the fund sponsored by Colwood Volunteer Fire Department for the welfare of the seven children of Jack and Tom Cameron, Colwood residents killed in a highway accident Oct. 21. Fund will close Nov. 11, but will be given all proceeds from a dance to be held in Colwood Community Hall Nov. 18. Donations are accepted at Dickenson and Dunn, Glen Lake Hardware, Colwood Fire Hall and Canadian Bank of Commerce, Colwood.

A musical evening is planned for the November meeting of Marigold School PTA in the school auditorium next Tuesday evening. The school choir and band will put on a performance, together with a group from Mount View High School called "The Roaring Twenties."

Two young men each were fined $20 when they pleaded guilty in city police court today to being minors in possession of liquor.

They were 20-year-old Herbert Allen Kobley, HMCS Naden, who had a case of beer, and Peter Carriho, 19, of 828 Courtney, who had a 13-ounce bottle of whiskey.

A former North Battleford, Sask., teenager sought by police since he disappeared from his sister's home in Saanich Friday was located Tuesday afternoon in Vancouver. Police were asked to assist in the location of Colin McLean, 14, who was not heard from since Friday midnight. He was lying at the home of Mrs. Harry Schild, 4905 Townsend, after arriving here recently.

When the 1955 sedan driven by car salesman Edward Bowcott ran out of gas, he wheeled into Tolmie Home Service, 3261 Douglas, Tuesday night. He got gas and the engine was primed, but a spark touched off gasoline vapors and set fire to the motor compartment, causing $300 estimated damage before Saanich firemen got to the scene. The car, property of Empress Motors, had to be towed home, finally.

THURSDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Rotary Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. Jack Conolly will present a film called "The Legendary Judge."

Oak Bay Beach Hotel: 6:15 p.m. Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Professor C. S. Burchill will discuss "Nationality Problems in the Soviet Union."

Victoria Y's Men's Club: 6:30 p.m. YMCA. Phillip Jeffrey, senior improvements appraiser for Saanich, will be the speaker.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. What is Canada's southernmost portion? Y.B.

A. Pelée Island, consisting of 11,500 farm acres and 5,000 acres of marsh, in Lake Erie, just north of the international boundary.

Anybody asking a question answered in this column is invited to send the question along to The Times, Editor, Questions and Answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

Dr. Joseph L. Gayton, former medical health officer for Victoria and Saanich health departments, has been appointed MHO for Vancouver. He moved there in 1954 to become assistant to the medical health officer.

A new series of school television programs has started this month in western Canada, seen on local networks Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Some of the programs were produced in Vancouver and are the first B.C.-made shows for schools.

Other shows are being produced in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Tuesday afternoon shows are about western Canada's geography. The Thursday programs are about arithmetic for intermediate grades.

Science programs will be shown later. Wallace Stevenson, of Vancouver, was put on $250 bond for six months' good behavior when he pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Tuesday to creating mischief by falsely reporting an attempt at suicide. Magistrate William Ostler imposed the condition that Stevenson also apply for treatment at the Alcoholism Foundation of British Columbia.

Police who attended to a report of attempted suicide found after investigation that Stevenson knew a quantity of sleeping pills he took were insufficient to cause death.

Address of naval seaman Joseph Gillanders, who was fined in city police court last week for wilfully damaging a store window in a street scuffle, was incorrectly reported as HMCS Saguenay. This should have read HMCS Naden.

18-Month Term In Ring Case

'Mysterious Stranger' Story Fails to Convince Magistrate

A man who claimed a paper sackful of gold, silver and birthstone rings he tried to sell were bought cheaply and smuggled into Canada was sentenced in city police court today to 18 months in jail for possessing stolen property.

Visiting Cleric Dies at 81

Rev. Joseph Henry Hobbs, 81, Methodist and United Church minister who held several charges on Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland, died Tuesday at the Veterans' Hospital after an illness of five weeks. He was visiting relatives here when first stricken by heart trouble. Another attack Tuesday proved fatal. Born in Birmingham, he had been in Canada almost 60 years. He preached on Salt Spring Island as a student in 1908, and was at Greenwood immediately prior to the First World War. After the war he was at Esquimalt, Mission City, Ladysmith, Union Bay, Agassiz, Port Langley, and Quesnel, his last full charge.

BOWEN ISLAND

He retired 11 years ago, and since then has served at Bowen Island, and as assistant minister at St. Andrew's United Church in Vancouver. Mr. Hobbs served in both the Boer War and First World War as a fighting man, although in the latter he was qualified to serve as a chaplain.

Surviving are the widow, at home, in North Vancouver; four daughters, Mrs. Ron Gadsby and Mrs. K. G. Smith, Victoria; Mrs. Gordon Clay, North Vancouver; and Mrs. Ernest Rice, White Rock; 14 grandchildren, and a sister in Birmingham.

Funeral will be held Friday at 10:15 a.m. at McCall's, and interment will be at Royal Oak. The family has asked that no flowers be sent.

It's Costing More to Keep B.C. Lawful

Court costs of the B.C. Attorney-General's department so far this year are $80,000 more than estimated.

The cabinet has approved a special warrant authorizing payment of $50,000 out of consolidated revenue to meet departmental costs.

On Aug. 9 a similar authorization was obtained for $30,000.

The budget of 1960-61 estimates allowed only $25,000 for the full year's "constitutional litigation and general law costs."

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Roy J. Lewis, 2642 Forbes, $40 for careless driving.

John R. Aasen, 1924 Birch, $40 for careless driving and $25 for failing to submit accident reports.

Arnold A. Budynski, 1039 Clark, $25 for violation of driver's licence restriction.

Hilda E. Ashby, 3431 Lovat, $15 for disobeying school patrol flag.

Thomas Henry Bray, 4139 Gillie, $10 for driving with insecure plates.

CIVIC 'FIRSTS' FOR PEARKES AT CITY HALL

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will set a precedent Nov. 14 when he pays a courtesy call on Mayor Percy Scurrell at City Hall.

Gen. Pearkes will be returning a courtesy call made by the mayor last week.

But it will be the first time in the city's history that a newly-appointed Queen's representative will have done so.

New Forms Due For Changing Drivers' Address

Change of address forms for B.C. motor-vehicle and drivers' licences will be available at the beginning of the new year, a government official said today.

This will avoid a repetition of Tuesday's city police court case when a motorist escaped conviction of failing to notify the motor vehicles superintendent of his change of address.

The motorist said he had notified the superintendent of his new address for his motor vehicle licence and assumed it was unnecessary to make a separate notice for his driver's licence.

A motor vehicles official said today regulations of the Motor Vehicles Act specify separate notice must be given in writing.

The reason, he said, is that the two types of licence are filed separately, and a car owner with a licence for his vehicle may not have a licence to drive it.

RECORD

Prosecutor T. P. O'Grady read an extensive record and Magistrate Ostler noted Travers had stated he was trying to reform and was in fact on parole.

"You are simply giving lip service to the idea of leading a respectable life," he told Travers, and asked if he had been working.

"I have a job now, your honor," the accused said. "You may well have a job, but it does not help much when you are not working to carry on like this."

Counsel David Hummel said he had no submission for the court before sentence was imposed.

Mr. Ostler said he was doubtful that the "mysterious stranger" existed at all, but was satisfied the rings probably were smuggled.

"To suggest they would take all that risk (if the rings were not stolen) is nonsense. I am satisfied the rings were stolen" and the accused knew it, Mr. Ostler said.

Evidence showed the rings were part of a $3,000 lot including watches and cigarette lighters that were stolen in a jewelry store burglary at Arlington, Wash., in September.

Both Travers and John Norman Lawrence Smith, his roommate at a Fairfield apartment when the charge was laid Oct. 6, said they believed the rings were smuggled after cheap purchase in the U.S.

They said the rings were turned over to them for sale by a man neither had ever seen before, nor since, and that they were to sell them to a beer parlor waiter.

Mr. Ostler said he was doubtful that the "mysterious stranger" existed at all, but was satisfied the rings probably were smuggled.

Charge of 'Impeding' Faces Dairy Manager

Stacey Accused Of 'Last Fling'

An inspector of the dairy branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture today was denied permission to enter premises of Milky Way Dairy Ltd., 815 Beckwith.

Henry Robinson, dairy manager, said he barred Peter Regehr because of the latter's actions in the dairy about three weeks ago, when he allegedly interfered with the operation of dairy equipment.

This marks the second time Mr. Regehr has been refused entry into the plant. On Oct. 31 he was not admitted to the plant, and as a result Mr. Robinson has been summoned to appear in Saanich police court Nov. 8 at 2 p.m.

He will be charged under the Milk Act with impeding an inspector.

COURT ORDER

Mr. Regehr arrived at the dairy this morning with three Saanich policemen. When he was refused permission, he was told by the police that he would have to get a court order to enter the premises. At press time he had not returned.

"This is Agriculture Minister Newton P. Stacey's last fling before he leaves office," Mr. Robinson said.

Differences between Mr. Robinson and the minister arise out of Mr. Stacey's order of a year ago that the dairy could not sell milk in 64-ounce cartons, or the equivalent of two United States quarts.

Mr. Robinson and his associates in the dairy felt the order was unfair in that they had described their plans to a government official months before Mr. Stacey's order of Oct. 4 or 5, 1959, and had been given permission to go ahead.

IGNORED

Mr. Stacey's 1959 order gave the dairy seven days to stop operations. The dairy ignored it, and Mr. Stacey turned the matter over to the attorney-general's department, but nothing was done.

About three weeks ago Mr. Regehr arrived at the dairy to make a routine inspection.

"For no reason he pulled an electrical plug from a wall outlet and stopped operation of the pump which takes water through the milk to keep it cool between pasteurization and packaging," Mr. Robinson said. "If we had not acted quickly we would have lost a whole batch of milk."

COMPLAINT

Following the incident he complained to George Patchett, dairy commissioner, and said Mr. Regehr would not be permitted on the premises again.

Mr. Patchett said a dairy had no right to say which inspector would call at the dairy. Meanwhile the dairy had heard from Mr. Stacey Oct. 11, stating that the dairy had until Oct. 31 to stop packaging milk in 64-ounce cartons.

On Oct. 31 Mr. Regehr arrived at the dairy to see if the minister's order had been carried out, and he was refused permission.

'DISCORD'

John Tisdalle, Saanich MLA who visited Mr. Robinson at the dairy today, said the situation in the agriculture department since Mr. Stacey took office has been "one of discord with the farmers of B.C."

Ramsay Wants Full Report On Arena Spat

Ald. Hugh Ramsay today said he will ask for a full report from the Memorial Arena commission on a series of resignations last month.

Ald. Ramsay is chairman of a city council subcommittee which deals with arena matters and, as such, he is the alderman responsible for keeping council informed on the subject.

He is expected to ask for a report when city finance committee meets Thursday morning.

'DISTURBED'

"I'm disturbed about the publicity on the resignations and any time that six people quit in a short period of time, I think there should be a full explanation for the reasons."

"I haven't been told anything about this by the commission and the commission chairman hasn't contacted me at all," he said.

Meanwhile, arena manager Joe Dukowski declined to comment on the resignations other than to say explanations given by Mayor Percy Scurrell, commission chairman F. G. Mulliner and city manager C. C. Wyatt "state the position."

All three said the resignations followed a personality clash with Mr. Dukowski.

POPULAR CPR SKIPPER DIES

He Knew the Ways of Steamers In Coastal Coves and Crannies

By MONTE ROBERTS

Forty-five years of "steamboating" on the British Columbia coast ended today with the death in the Royal Jubilee Hospital of Capt. Graham O. "Gay" Hughes, 60.

Since he was a boy of 15, Capt. Hughes had served with the B.C. Coast Service of the CPR—as deckhand, junior officer, mate and master mariner.

One of the friendliest and most popular captains in the CPR's cruise fleet, Capt. Hughes is—ironically—best remembered by the general public for the only ship he lost during his long and honored career—Ss. Princess Kathleen, which went down off Point Lena, Alaska, in September, 1952.

Capt. Hughes was not on watch when the luxury Alaska cruise liner went aground, far off its course, and an enquiry later laid the blame on the first officer.

COMMENDED. As for the captain, he emerged with an official commendation for his "seamanlike" measures looking to the safety of his 300 passengers and crew, and the possibility of saving the ship.

The Kathleen went aground on a falling tide, after several hours slipped off and sank in deep water. But long before, Capt. Hughes had made sure every passenger and each of the 130 crew members was safely ashore. There was not a life lost, nor serious injury.

FAIR AND FOUL

But Capt. Gay Hughes would rather be remembered for the thousands of safe voyages, in fair weather and foul, he carried out on this coast. There wasn't a cove or cranny he hadn't poked a coastwise steamer into, and there was scarcely a steamer in the CPR fleet in which he didn't serve at one time or another. For many years he and the

Kathleen served on the blue ribbon run of the coast—from Vancouver to Alaska with passengers from all over the world.

Up until his death Capt. Hughes occasionally heard from those passengers, often heard from former crew members who admired, liked and respected him.

Capt. Hughes had been in hospital since last August. Funeral services will be held at McCall Bros. at 3:15 Saturday.

UNEMPLOYED
'NO. 1 TOPIC'
FOR SESSION

VANCOUVER (CP)—CCF leader Robert Strachan forecast here today that unemployment will be the main issue of the next session of the B.C. legislature.

"Unemployment will be at its worst when the session starts, and there are no proposals from the government to help," said Mr. Strachan. A normal session starting date of early January was suggested Monday by Premier Bennett.

Mr. Strachan said Ottawa was asked by the premier to tend to unemployment. "But he can't expect Ottawa to accept his suggestion for a joint public works program when he hasn't shown good faith."

Mr. Strachan said the Social Credit government has under-spent the 1959-60 provincial works program by $24,000,000. Meanwhile, Liberal leader Ray Perrault said he feels much of the legislature debates will be on hydro power.

Shipping,
Travel
Delayed

LONDON (CP)—Fierce gales howled across the British Isles today, leaving a trail of torn roofs and toppled trees over areas already hit by floods.

Ships scurried for shelter from mountainous waves. One ship, the 6,359-ton Welpark, was forced aground near Liverpool and lifeboats were sent to two other vessels in distress.

Waves 40 feet high crashed over some roads around the coast. In southern England, highways already badly flooded were further blocked by falling trees.

At Belfast, 24 girls ran screaming from the top floor of a five-storey warehouse when the roof was plucked off in the wind. No one was injured.

TRAVEL HAMPERED

Ship sailings were delayed in ports all around the country. Air and rail traffic was also disrupted.

The gales brought fresh threats of flooding to widespread areas of Britain which were only beginning to dig themselves out of mud and debris.

The worst storm in memory struck the northwest coast resort of Blackpool. Roofs were blown off, windows shattered and the town's telephone system cut off.

Off the east coast, herring fleets caught in 80-mile winds, struggled through mountainous waves to harbor after an all-night battering.

In Manchester, gales blew in big department store windows and knocked down billboards.

The Thames River continued to rise. Workers frantically placed sandbags along the Thames banks at Windsor to protect the main street from flooding.

Hundreds of acres of the royal park outside Windsor Castle were flooded.

WELCOME FOR NIXON, IKE

NEW YORK (AP)—Streamers flew from windows, confetti was tossed on the crowd and tug whistles blasted in Manhattan today as President Eisenhower joined the campaign of Vice-President Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Spectators, packed behind police lines, cheered and some women blew kisses as the president and Nixon arrived at Herald Square, sitting on the back of a convertible. At one point the confetti and tape were so thick it looked as though twilight had arrived early. Eisenhower, Nixon and Lodge arrived in Manhattan by helicopter after appearances in the suburbs.

At a shopping centre in Nassau County on Long Island, Eisenhower said Nixon and Lodge, the Republican presidential and vice-presidential nominees respectively, offer the U.S. "the finest type of leadership that is available today to the nation."

'NO GOOD' CANADA TOLD

Soviet Rejects Arms Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The Soviet Union threw cold water today on Canadian efforts to produce a compromise decision on disarmament in the UN General Assembly.

U.K. Seeks To Quell
SubDispute

LONDON (CP)—Britain today sought to avert an Anglo-American argument over the control of missiles carried by American Polaris submarines to be based at Holy Loch, Scotland.

Prime Minister Macmillan announced in the House of Commons Tuesday that the United States would not use the missiles without "the fullest possible previous consultation."

Surprised U.S. officials said in Washington the United States had made no direct commitment about fullest previous consultation with Britain.

The Earl of Home, Britain's foreign minister, told the House of Lords today it appeared from press reports that Macmillan's words had been misinterpreted.

In reply to questions, Home declared: "It is quite clear from the prime minister's statement that although he is sure there would be consultation wherever possible, it could not necessarily be guaranteed in the case of an emergency."

SAYS TEXT CLEAR

The foreign secretary expressed confidence that if there is any misunderstanding in Washington, it will be cleared up by a full reading of the text of Macmillan's statement.

He said Macmillan had pointed out it was not possible to make a Polaris agreement to match the one on U.S. air bases in Britain. The air base in the U.S. and Russia are in impasse.

CHEST DRIVE TO FALL
SHORT BY $80,000

Pessimistic officials of the Community Chest today predicted that the 1960 Red Feather drive may fall short of its $350,000 goal by $80,000.

A special meeting of canvassers and key workers was called this afternoon and it was expected an extension of the campaign would be sanctioned. With the deadline for returns set for Friday only $176,000 has been collected.

"I am extremely disappointed with the progress so far," campaign chairman Bernard Van Aggelen stated.

"If people want to have a Community Chest then it is absolutely essential that they contribute towards it on a fair share basis."

TO BECOME MARTYR?

Student Assassin
Suicides in Jail

TOKYO (UPI)—Otoya Yamaguchi, remorseless student assassin of socialist leader Inejiro Asanuma, eluded the watch of reformatory guards Tuesday night and hanged himself in his cell, police reported.

A guard reported "nothing amiss at 8 p.m. when he inspected the cell of the 17-year-old ultra-nationalist who plunged a knife into Asanuma at a political rally Oct. 12."

Thirty minutes later another guard visited the cell and found Yamaguchi unconscious. His body hung suspended by strips of sheet from a light fixture. The strips apparently had been torn from his bedding.

Yamaguchi had been in solitary confinement. Observers said the suicide may make Yamaguchi a martyr among ultra-nationalists in Japan.

The youth had been transferred from Tokyo metropolitan police headquarters to the boys' reformatory only Wednesday, police said. The switch was made after the Tokyo prosecutor recommended that the criminal courts handle his case.

Yamaguchi faced a possible death penalty.

Anti-Catholic Tracts
Flood New York State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Residents in all corners of New York State are receiving anti-Catholic literature.

The literature has been denounced by Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic leaders. Pamphlets and handbills were being received by residents in Albany, Utica, Plattsburgh, Saratoga Lake, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Middletown and Buffalo.

Some of the literature came from anonymous senders. The titles include: If the United States becomes 51 per cent Catholic, and Washington under the sway of Romanism."

Senator John Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, repeatedly has gone on record for church-state separation. Kennedy is a Roman Catholic.

IKE IN THE FRAY

Bitter Charges
By Candidates

By United Press International
President Eisenhower today starred in a razzle-dazzle Republican campaign spectacular designed to swing New York—and the nation—behind GOP White House nominee Richard M. Nixon.

Democratic candidate John F. Kennedy, stumped through Los Angeles, San Diego, San Jose and San Francisco in his second and final day of campaigning for the 32 electoral votes of Nixon's native California.

The presidential rivals traded increasingly blunt charges. Nixon branded the Massachusetts senator a "bare-faced" liar on social security. Kennedy termed as "detestable" a GOP statement on defence contracts.

In a whirlwind 12-hour bid for New York's 45 electoral votes—biggest single bloc in the nation—Eisenhower appeared side-by-side with Nixon at several rallies in suburbs of New York City and a ticker-tape parade up Broadway. A nationally televised evening rally was set in Manhattan.

Kennedy continued to tease Nixon about the use of Eisenhower in the campaign.

Former President Harry S. Truman, campaigning for Kennedy in New York suburbs, also needed Nixon.

"The Republicans have now sent out an emergency call for help," Truman said. "They are asking Ike to try to rescue Nixon."

POOLS WINNER DISQUALIFIED

Too Young for Fortune

LONDON (AP)—An 18-year-old German girl who came to England 12 weeks ago had £45,856 ($128,306) she had won the money betting in a "soccer pool." An official of the pools firm called on her to hand her the cheque.

But when he found she was under 21, he told her she couldn't have the money. Under British law, no one under 21 is allowed to bet on the pools.

"What can I do?" asked Miss Ute today in tears. "In Germany my parents would have been given the money in trust for me. It was the first time I had ever filled in a coupon, and it came out right. And now this."

A pools official said that Miss Ute's prize money was added to the funds earmarked for other first-prize winners. A fixed percentage of the pools' income is set aside each week to be paid out as prizes.

"We gave Miss Ute her two shillings six pence back," the official added.

Well, I guess it's better for 'em t' be pickin' holes in disarmament plans than blowin' holes in us.

Any more religious issue an' they'll be callin' it th' providential campaign.

See there's bin a little coolness aroun' th' Arena.
